Trial Of Six Britons By Soviet Court Is Started

ENTER PLEAS AND RECESS THEN TAKEN

One Englishman in Guilty Plea and Five Others Deny Guilt as Charged

INDICTMENTS READ

Charges of Conspiracy to Wreck Power Plants Are Placed Before Tribunal

MOSCOW, April 12.—(UP)—William MacDonald, one of six Englishmen charged with sabotage and espionage, pleaded guilty before a soviet revolutionary tribunal today. Eleven Russians likewise entered pleas of guilty.

Five other English co-defendants pleaded not guilty.

The trial then recessed at 3:30 p. m. until 6 p. m.

The dramatic pleas sent a wave of exclamations across the courtroom. They followed the formal reading of the long indictment charging to wreck the major power plants of the soviet union, but accused the Metropolitan Vickers company, one of the largest and most highly respectable of British firms, of official connivance with an elaborate espionage plot carried out by its employees which gathered military and economic information and transmitted it to England.

The name of C. E. Richards, director of Metropolitan Vickers in charge of Russian operations, was listed as the official to whom the alleged reports were forwarded. The indictments said Richards was once a member of the British secret service, Anna Kutusova, secretary in the firm's Moscow office, had admitted that to her personal knowledge the Englishmen had participated in counter revolutionary crimes.

The indictment said that W. H. Thornton, one of the men who pleaded not guilty, had testified in his pre-trial examination.

In accordance with the suggestion of Mr. Richards, information regarding the political conditions in the interior were collected by our employees. This information was conveyed to Monkhous (Allen Monkhous, the company's Russian manager) or me. Espionage activities were conducted by Monkhous and myself.

WARDEN ASKS SANITY TRIAL FOR MRS. WINNIE RUTH JUDD

PAN-AMERICAN BOARD TOLD TO LIFT BARRIERS

WASHINGTON, April 12.—(UP)—President Roosevelt in an address at the Pan-American union today called for the immediate breaking down of "unnecessary and artificial barriers and restrictions which now hamper the healthy flow of trade between the peoples of the American republics."

Mr. Roosevelt explained that it was vitally important that every nation of the western hemisphere, individually, take such action without further delay.

The president's address was made before the special session of the governing board of the union on the occasion of the celebration of Pan-American day. The speech was translated into Portuguese and Spanish.

In his address, Mr. Roosevelt took cognizance of the undeclared war now going on between Bolivia and Paraguay and Colombia and Peru, asserting that "I cannot fail to be disturbed by any armed strife between neighbors. I do not hesitate to say to you the distinguished members of the governing board of the Pan-American union, that I regard existing conflicts between four of our sister republics as a backward step."

"Your Americanism and mine," he said, "must be a structure built of confidence, cemented by a sympathy which recognizes only equality and fraternity. It finds its source and being in the hearts of men and dwells in the temple of the intellect."

The president asserted that he looked upon the union as the outward expression of the spiritual unity of the Americas and said that this unity must be courageous and vital in its elements.

He added that humanity must look to it as one of the great stabilizing influences in world affairs.

Moratorium On Taxes Passed By Assembly

12.—(UP)—The assembly today approved a 60-tax moratorium.

Provisions of the bill, introduced by Assemblyman Sam Greene, Inglewood, authorized an extension of the date taxes become delinquent from April 20 to June 20. The measure was passed unanimously and sent to the senate.

JAPAN ACCEPTS INVITATION TO U. S. CONCLAVE

Viscount Ishii Will Head Delegation to Roosevelt's Conference

TOKIO, April 12.—(UP)—Viscount Kikujiro Ishii, member of the privy council and former Foreign Minister, informally accepted tonight the appointment to head Japan's delegation to the international economic conference at Washington.

Besides Ishii, it was understood the delegation will include Taro Matsudaira, Japanese ambassador to London, or Katsufu Debuchi, ambassador to Washington; Sotomatsu Kato, London embassy counsellor; Shinjiro Matsuyama, commercial secretary; Hiroaki Kawai, minister to Poland; Juchio Tsushima, commercial commissioner; and other experts, officials and scholars of financial circles.

Ishii was selected because of his wide acquaintance of international affairs. He was at one time minister to the United States and France and was Japan's envoy to the Washington naval conference in 1927. His selection was learned after Foreign Minister Uchida had conferred with the emperor.

It is believed probably that the Japanese delegation will ask Secretary of State Hull's definition of the Stimson doctrine, withholding United States recognition of Japanese-controlled Manchukuo.

America's attitude on the mandated islands also will be questioned, will be believed. These islands, mandated to Japan by the League of Nations after Germany's defeat in the World war, threaten to become a sore issue since Japan resigned from the league.

Observers also believe that questions relating to the Philippine islands and other Pacific problems will be thrashed out at the forthcoming conference. It was anticipated here that President Roosevelt would seek to ascertain Japan's attitude regarding a new Pacific agreement embracing eventual neutralization of the Philippines.

The Nipponese delegation probably will arrive in Washington late in May and dispose of its part of the conference within a few days.

Slayer May Yet Escape Prison Noose

Official Prepares Affidavit Saying He Believes Woman Insane

BULLETIN

FLORENCE, Ariz., April 12.—(UP)—A hearing to determine the sanity of Winnie Ruth Judd, condemned to hang April 21 for the slaying of her former friend, Agnes Ann Leroi, will be held here Friday morning before Superior Judge E. L. Green.

FLORENCE, Ariz., April 12.—(UP)—An eleventh hour reprieve for Winnie Ruth Judd was granted today by Warden A. G. Walker of Florence State Prison in ordering a sanity hearing for the frail "Blonde Tigress" under sentence to hang April 21.

Walker was to appear before Pinal county authorities with a formal request for enjoining a "sanity jury" of 12 men—a move which would save her from the gallows where all other legal stratagems have failed.

The warden prepared an affidavit saying that on his own observation and the observations of others, he believes her to be insane.

At the hearing Walker will present

ROOSEVELT TO SEEK CONTROL OF PRODUCTION

Considers Program Now to Attack Problem of Surpluses in Industry

WASHINGTON, April 12.—(UP)—President Roosevelt is considering a program for control of production to enable the country to lift itself from the present morass of "foolish overproduction," it was learned from sources close to the White House today.

This attack on the problem of surpluses in industry and agriculture was said to be preferable in the president's mind to other proposed methods of curbing the over production evil.

The proposal is only the exploratory phase, it was explained, but was aimed at the primary object of spreading production throughout a given industry instead of concentrating it in large units. Secretary of Labor Perkins and Secretary of Commerce Roper are studying possibilities of the proposal.

It was explained that control of industrial production would bring about a spread of employment and prevent various factories from working 24 hour a day shifts to fill contract requirements while others remained idle.

At the same time it was made clear that President Roosevelt does not favor the Black 30 hours work week bill in its present form, believing some integral changes should be made. Secretary Perkins will appear before a house labor committee later today to list such changes.

Friends of the president represented him as feeling that the administration should not attempt to tell congress the number of hours at which employment should be fixed, but a greater elasticity as to the terms of the measure is favored by the president however.

Roughly it was said that the administration favored the following three proposals in regard to employment regulation:

- 1.—Spreading employment among a larger number of people.
- 2.—Preventing any one individual from working too many hours.
- 3.—Determination as to whether the government should try to spread work and prevent concentration in one or two units of a given industry.

U. S. S. Macon To Make Trial Test Thursday

AKRON, O., April 12.—(UP)—The U. S. S. Macon, sister ship of the ill-fated Akron, will gear into the air at 5 a. m. tomorrow on her maiden flight, Commander H. Dresel announced today.

Airport officials believed the field, soggy from rain, would be drained sufficiently by dawn tomorrow to bear the weight of the 170 ton movable mooring mast. Only adverse weather conditions can delay the scheduled trial flight, Commander Dresel said.

TRUSTEE TO ASK BOARD FOR ACTION

No Funds Available Today for $28,000,000 Now Owed Teachers in Pay

PEDAGOGUES IN RIOT

Offices of President of School Board Stormed by 200irate Teachers

CHICAGO, April 12.—(UP)—Immediate closing of all Chicago schools because no funds are available for the $28,000,000 owed teachers in back pay appeared imminent today.

H. W. Caldwell, school trustee, announced he would ask the board of education today to order immediate shutdown of the public school system, the second largest in the nation.

Caldwell's announcement brought to a crisis a tinder box situation that has been punctuated with school strikes, protest parades and turbulent scenes within the past few months. It came at conclusion of another day of riotous sessions in the office of Orville J. Taylor, president of the board.

Caldwell said his resolution would be presented with considerable backing to the board today.

"I feel that school teachers have been discriminated against," he declared as he revealed his intention. "City employees have been paid and teachers are getting no salaries. I think it is unjust that millions in cash have been expended for idle in the city while teachers, in just as much distress, get nothing."

"The only alternative is to close the schools and let everyone know just how serious the situation is."

William J. Hogan, superintendent of schools, is in Washington seeking federal aid for salary payments. Numerous previous appeals to federal authorities, including the R. F. C. have been in vain.

The first open intimation that teachers themselves favored suspension of schools came yesterday when 2000 of them stormed Taylor's office after a parade through the loop.

CHURCH MAY OUST MRS. PEARL S. BUCK

TRENTON, N. J., April 12.—(UP)—Mrs. Pearl S. Buck, who drew on her experience as a Presbyterian missionary in China to write two "best seller" novels, faces removal as a result of recent writings differing with fundamentalist doctrines of the church, it was revealed at a meeting of the New Brunswick Presbytery.

Dr. J. Gresham Machen of Westminster Theological seminary, Philadelphia, asked what action the board of foreign missions planned to take against Mrs. Buck. Dr. Robert E. Spear, senior secretary of the board, replied that Mrs. Buck's case was one of two under consideration.

"The only question remaining is as to the Christian method by which we should proceed," Spear remarked.

10 MILE TOLL ROAD MAY BE PURCHASED

SACRAMENTO, Calif., April 12.—(UP)—A measure empowering the state highway commission to purchase the Sears Point 10-mile toll road along the north shore of San Pablo bay "if they deem it desirable," was in the senate's hands today after unanimous approval last night by the senate roads and highway committee.

The bill was introduced by Senator Thomas McCormack, Rto Vista. There was no committee opposition.

McCormack emphasized he was not "representing owners of the toll road." He held the thoroughfare logically belonged to the state highway system.

Original cost of the road was approximately $700,000.

335 ARMY PLANES TO HOLD MANEUVERS

WASHINGTON, April 12.—(UP)—More than 335 planes of the army air corps will converge late this spring on March and Rockwell fields in Southern California, the war department announced today, for practice in tactical war problems.

Previously it had been planned to hold the maneuvers in the northwest, but the project was simplified for reasons of economy.

VICE CHANCELLOR VISITS WITH POPE

Hermann Goering, minister without portfolio in the Hitler cabinet, also was received by the pope. Goering wore the uniform of air commissioner of the Reich.

SENATOR'S SON IS KILLED IN CAPITAL

WASHINGTON, April 12.—(UP)—Capt. Paul B. King, 35, son of Senator King, Dem. Utah, was killed last night in a seven-story plunge from his hotel room.

Coroner A. Magruder MacDonald, investigating with great secrecy, was determining today whether the fall was accidental or a case of suicide.

Senator King said his son, a World war veteran and former aviator, had been in a hospital in New York for several weeks until he came here a week ago.

Hotel clerks said that as far as they knew King had not been out of his room since he registered. They said he had sent out for some food on Sunday, but had not eaten since then.

GOVERNOR SIGNS MORATORIUM BILL

SACRAMENTO, Calif., April 12.—(UP)—The irrigation moratorium bill was in effect today.

Governor Rolph signed the measure which enables defaulting irrigation districts to meet their obligations for the forthcoming two years on an ability-to-pay basis.

The bill was introduced by Assemblyman C. Ray Robinson. It provides any district in default 20 per cent or more may with approval of the California directors securities commission, limit payments on its obligations. In no event, would delinquency be permitted to exceed 15 per cent.

The measure was actively opposed by irrigation district bondholders who attacked its constitutionality and held it virtually amounted to bond repudiation.

DRIVE OPENED ON BEER RACKETEERS

LOS ANGELES, April 12.—(UP)—An extensive drive against beer bootleggers and racketeers was under way today as federal agents sought to detect counterfeit labels and the sale of "home brew."

Thousands of counterfeit labels of well known brands of beer are said to have been printed within the past few days and used on bottles of illegal beer.

Walter Peters, prohibition administrator for Southern California, announced his agents would keep a close watch for breweries which may attempt to operate without a federal license. His men were tracing leads which were expected to uncover large quantities of "home brew" adorned with bogus labels.

FORTY THEATERS IN KANSAS CITY CLOSE

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 12.—(UP)—Forty Kansas City motion picture theaters, including every downtown show house, closed today for an indefinite period when union employees rejected a salary cut proposed by the theater operators.

Theater owners demanded a 25 per cent reduction in salaries in first run houses and removal of one stage hand, and removal of one operator in the neighborhood houses, with 20 per cent increase in salary for the remaining operator, for the purpose of split week employment.

Only a few independent houses, operating without union help, remained open. Owners said the closing would remain in effect indefinitely, as they were determined to enforce their demands.

WILL ROGERS says:

BEVERLY HILLS, April 12.—(To the Editor of the Register:) Some sort of hand-clapping is due the Republican newspapers for their generous support of the administration. For nothing is as bull-headed as a party newspaper, be it Republican or Democratic. People are the first to forget party lines, newspapers are the last. This is a lesson in generosity to Democratic papers.

And talking about newspapers. Return of beer must have given some new advertising men a job, for never was there as attractive and intelligent ads in the papers as these new beer ads. Finally we are seeing something as an ad beside a pretty girl smoking a cigarette.

City Department Heads Busy Figuring Expense Cuts

PERSONNEL TO BE REDUCED TO EFFECT SAVING

City department heads were busy today with sharp pencils and scratch pads figuring expenses in their department and seeking everywhere to make necessary cuts to meet the need for reduction of expenses in their departments 20 per cent, as requested by the city council.

Not all city officers today knew just how it was going to be done, but several were of the opinion that the reductions could not be made unless salaries were slashed. There were others, however, who will not cut salaries, but who will be forced to cut their personnel.

Floyd W. Howard, chief of police, said today he would be forced to cut eight officers from the force. This represents one-fourth of the department, as there are 32 on the police payroll.

Radio Police Cuts
Howard has to cut approximately $14,000 from his budget to meet the necessary reduction, and he expects to install radio cars to patrol the streets to replace the men on beats, he said. Details regarding the installation of the radio equipment are vague at the present time.

Following the suggestion of Mayor Witmer and the council that there be no reductions in salaries, there is nothing else for me to do, but to reduce the personnel," he said.

Police officers who have been "covering" the downtown section of the city on foot will be using radio equipped cars instead, except there will be fewer men required, he pointed out.

"I hope that the schools will be able to take care of their own traffic problems, for I do not see how the police department will be able to do it when the cuts go into effect," he said.

Clerk in Quandary
Ed Vegely, city clerk, said today that he had not decided how any 20 per cent cut would be made in his department. His department was budgeted $10,050 last year and he must cut to $8040 this year, according to the council's edict.

"Nothing can be done in my department to cut expenses except to cut salaries as we have never asked for anything more than we actually needed and to cut 20 per cent from $600, (the amount allotted other than salaries) makes it impossible to meet the city council's demands without cutting salaries," he said.

Vegely said that he could dismiss one of the two city license inspectors, but pointed out that there would be no economy there, in that the man in question was only being paid $95 per month and that in the past year he had stopped and collected license fees from itinerant truck drivers who operated in Santa Ana which netted the city more than $600. "That would not be a smart move at all," he said. Vegely admitted that he was stumped as to how to make the 20 per cent reductions in his office.

Harry Hays, who has charge of the city's water department office is in the same fix as Vegely, he reported. He can't afford to allow any of the employees to leave the service, because all are badly needed, and the only way he can meet the new budget is by slashing salaries, he said.

He said he was working out a plan that would save $280 by not sending out as many delinquent notices, thereby saving stamp cost and that he was going to San Bernardino, Riverside and Pomona to study the water office systems there in an effort to learn other ways of making reductions, but his idea today is to cut salaries in his office. He must cut from $2200 to $2400 in his department, he said.

Fire Department
The fire department is working on four different methods of reducing expenses, but John Lucumbourger, chief, said today that he had no idea which one of the plans, if any, would work. "I'm afraid to let men go, on account of the fire hazard," he said. He said that salaries in the fire department may be cut, but that he could not say today until he had tested various plans he had in mind. The fire department operated on $68,814.65 last year and must cut some $15,700 for the new fiscal year.

Other department heads declared they were working on plans but could give no statement as to their plans today. J. L. McBride, city engineer, said that he had given the matter some thought but that he had been busy working for unemployment relief which starts in a big way tomorrow and that he could state nothing definitely today.

Lloyd Banks, city auditor, who also has charge of much of the general government department expenses, could not be reached today, being in Los Angeles on business.

HOLD INQUEST FOR MYSTERY DEATH VICTIM

Mystery of the death of J. R. Bodin and the supposed suicide of Barbara Muller, and the disappearance of a baby, believed to be a daughter of the couple, increased today as federal agents and police broadened their investigation.

Coroner Earl Abbey, of Orange county, together with Los Angeles police officers and local deputy sheriffs were this afternoon questioning witnesses at a coroner's inquest over the body of Bodin at the Chorum funeral parlors at Costa Mesa, hoping that some clue would be unearthed that would solve the mystery.

Department of Justice agents continued to shroud their investigation with greatest secrecy. They are known, however, to be studying the "suicide" note left by Bodin and his sweetheart in the stateroom of the ship.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Elizabeth Kramer, aunt of Miss Muller, had on file in superior court a petition for letters of administration of the supposedly $50,000 estate inherited by the missing young woman from her mother. The petition listed the value of the estate as "in excess of $10,000" and declared that Miss Muller died April 3—the day she and Bodin last were seen alive on board the Yale.

Mel Clement, deputy district governor of the Orange county clubs, made a brief talk in which he stressed the importance of clubs planning their functions in advance in order not to conflict with functions of other clubs.

Ralph Layton, district governor of district five, made a report on the progress of clubs in the district. He said the district was in excellent condition and has a good chance of winning an attendance contest.

Previous to the business meeting, an entertainment program was presented. The Junior College quartet, presented several selections which were well received.

Vera Getty, teacher of dancing at Costa Mesa, gave an athletic dance and a tap dance.

Floyd Stewart of Riverside Drive, Santa Ana entertained members of the club with feats of magic.

COUNTER SUIT OVER ACCIDENT IS FILED HERE

A jury in department one, superior court will be asked to decide which automobile, in an accident that cost the life of one woman and was responsible for the injury of another woman and a man, swerved from the right side of the highway causing the crash.

Harry C. Wilhelm, Anaheim chiropractor and Eileen Wilhelm, A. O. Flinn, Velva Badgett, Nona Badgett, Edna Vande Vekt, and Catherine Godfrey have filed suit demanding damages totalling $46,614.40 from Victoria Alden Sovel, motion picture actress of Hollywood. Miss Sovel has filed a counter suit demanding $5631 from Wilhelm for injuries she is alleged to have received in the accident.

Wilhelm is demanding $21,614.40 for his injuries and the other plaintiffs are seeking $25,000 for the death of their mother who was riding in the automobile with Wilhelm, her son-in-law.

The crash occurred July 24, last on Grand avenue north of Buena Park. According to the testimony of both Wilhelm and Miss Sovel both automobiles were traveling in opposite directions at speeds approximately 45 miles per hour. Both drivers testified they were on their right side of the highway. As the machines met the front wheels collided, tearing off the left front wheel of each automobile. Which automobile swerved, causing the crash is to be determined by the jury.

sent his own observations as well as those of medical authorities with whom he consulted before he decided upon the action. Mrs. Judd also will have the opportunity to present her own authorities, her lawyers said.

An early hearing was expected since the Pinal county jury panel—composed chiefly of miners and homesteaders—is now in session. Should Mrs. Judd, on examination by the jurors, be found insane she will be confined to the state hospital in Phoenix.

The confinement would be for life, or until state alienists should find she has regained her sanity. If that ever happened, the famous prisoner would be executed for the murder of Agnes Ann Lerol, her fellow nurse in a Phoenix clinic.

Walker alone was empowered to order the sanity hearing.

Mrs. Judd was not informed of the sanity hearing, and may not learn of her latest respite until she is summoned before the jury. Under the wardens' orders, preparations for the execution went forward. A new yellow rope, tautened by weights, was stretched from the gallows arm where four years ago Eva Dugan expiated a murder—the last time a woman was hanged in the United States.

Damage Verdict Rests With Jury

The case of Joseph Kopscho who is suing Lewis Alden for damages totalling $30,000 for injuries received November 12, last in an automobile accident near Cypress went to the jury in department two, superior court shortly before the noon recess.

Alden admitted responsibility for the accident and arguments are hinging on the amount of damages to be awarded. In his complaint Kopscho alleged that Alden was driving his automobile at a high rate of speed at the time of the crash.

HUGE CROWDS DRAWN BY BIG SALES EVENT

The pulling power of advertising in The Register was strongly demonstrated today when such large crowds flocked to the Santa Ana Dry Goods company sale that it was necessary to close the doors until those packed inside the store could be waited on.

The advertising was carried exclusively in The Register, Harry Landauer, sale manager, pointed out. He expressed gratification at the large crowd which attended the sale on the opening day, today.

Saturday the store published a frank statement as to why the sale was to be conducted. The statement said the business was in a serious condition and that it was necessary to throw the stock to the public at unheard of prices.

This advertisement was followed with one on prices of merchandise Tuesday, exclusively in The Register again, and the pulling power of the ad was well demonstrated today, as a corps of 25 clerks were unable to care for all the customers.

The success of the sale proves that there is money in Santa Ana and Orange county, Landauer said, which will be spent for merchandise. He said the sale will continue for 10 days and if a few more days like today are scheduled, the business will be able to reorganize and continue in business here.

MAN KILLED BY AUTOMOBILE AT LAGUNA BEACH

William S. Fulmer, 53, house painter, of 953 Catalina street, Laguna Beach, was instantly killed on Coast boulevard north of Hillen place in Laguna Beach this morning, when he was struck by a car driven by Ralph B. Claggett, of Rancho Santa Fe. This is the eleventh death from traffic accidents in Orange county this year.

Claggett and George Dzungo, of 3020 Main street, San Diego, a passenger in his machine, told police that Fulmer was walking in the same direction as the automobile was traveling. The accident happened when another machine, traveling south, attempted to pass a third car, Claggett being forced to swerve to the side of the road to avoid crashing into the other cars, he told police.

Fulmer was pronounced dead by Dr. W. G. Raber and his body was removed to the Laguna Beach Funeral home.

According to Claggett, Mr. and Mrs. Maylon V. Chipman, of 250 South La Brea, Los Angeles, were witnesses to the accident.

Survivors of the accident victim are the widow, one son, Kenneth, and a daughter, Mrs. Ramona Muse, all of Laguna Beach.

Another daughter, Norma, a former student at Tustin Union High school, and widely known for her beauty, passed away in a Los Angeles hospital last October, following a long period of illness.

Coroner Earl Abbey stated that time for an inquest would be set later. Claggett was not held.

BUILDERS OF COUNTY ENJOY ANNUAL AFFAIR

Featured by an interesting entertainment program, members of the Orange County Builders' Exchange and their wives and guests enjoyed a "Ladies' Night" program, an annual feature of the organization, last night in the Orange American Legion clubhouse.

During the dinner hour, the Merry Makers Dance band entertained with a group of numbers. The orchestra also furnished music for the dance which was held following the entertainment program and short business meeting.

A. L. Foster, president, presided over the meeting and introduced the entertainers. Warmly received, three youthful high school orators delivered five-minute addresses on timely topics.

Students Speak

Isamu Masuda, of the Garden Grove high school, winner of the state semi-final International Toastmasters' oratorical contest, gave a pointed talk on "The Second Generation of Japanese in America." He pointed to the difficulty Japanese American citizens found in securing employment. He appealed for a closer cooperation between the races and for the elimination of racial prejudice to the end that better understanding might result between the two nations.

Hardin Covey, Fullerton high school student, delivered a short address on Americanism, defining what he declared was "100 per cent Americanism." Dan O'Hanlon, Fullerton high school student, gave a talk on the relationship between England and America.

Ed Maull, county building inspector, was introduced during the meeting. It was announced that he would be the speaker at the next meeting of the Exchange in Fullerton. His topic will be the new county building code.

Community singing featured a new Builders' song written by Glenn Lewis of Fullerton.

Building Code

During the business session, President Foster called attention to the aid given county contractors in the new county building code which has been adopted. He also called attention to the resolution adopted by many organizations in the county on breaking down artificial trade barriers which have been built up around various cities. He mentioned the possibility of an attempt to secure a county license which would be redistributed to cities.

Secretary Fred Sanford gave a report on his trip to Sacramento to further legislation benefiting the construction and allied industries. He attended, he said, hearings in committees on various legislation. He said the bill providing for the repeal of the state contractors license law will probably be killed in committee, and that the prevailing wage law will probably be amended instead of being repealed.

W. J. Dean, R. C. McMillan, Thornton Means, Jules Markel, G. A. Barrows, C. R. Stauffer and the firm of Knox and Stout were announced as new members of the Exchange.

While many of those present danced, others enjoyed bridge games. Mrs. Sid Russell won high and Mrs. Walter F. Sorenson low for women in the games, while V. O. Kiser took high and George Thoman low prize for the men.

BYRON—(UP)—Hens on the Del Vezzo ranch are gifted with an unusual amount of intelligence. Now that Easter is near, they have been laying eggs of half a dozen colors.

BREAKFASTERS TO HAVE EGG HUNT

With considerable fun anticipated through an Easter egg hunt which has been arranged for the meeting, the Orange County Breakfast club will hold its regular weekly meeting tomorrow morning at 7:30 o'clock in the Green Cat cafe. It was announced today.

Brightly colored eggs will be hidden in various places in the meeting room. A golden egg will be among those hidden, according to Barney Koster, program chairman, and the one who finds the egg will be awarded a prize.

In observance of the Easter season, the Rev. Harry E. Owings, member of the club, will deliver an Easter message to members and guests of the club.

The Harmony Quartet, radio artists, will be featured in the entertainment portion of the program when it presents a group of vocal selections. Members of the quartet are Clarence Rohrs, Kenneth Rohrs, Paul Elsner and Everett Elsner.

William C. Butler is in charge of the program for the day.

NEWCOMER AND SANDON ENTER BRIDGE FINALS

Robert Sandon and John Newcomer, assured positions in the finals of the Santa Ana Duplicate Contract Bridge Pair tournament by their win over Mrs. Ed Gregory, Laguna Beach, and Ted Fulkerson of this city, just announced, will oppose the winners of the second semi-final match, scheduled between Mrs. B. J. McMullen and Mrs. Sarah J. Haddon and Mrs. Will Flood and H. G. Serene, all of Santa Ana. It was revealed today. The championship round will be played next week, according to Serene, manager.

The finalists and semi-finalists were determined in contests just completed which eliminated Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dale, Mrs. Elsie Skinner and Mrs. Hannah Harding of Anaheim, and Mrs. Howard Timmons and Mrs. M. D. Borgmeyer, in three quarter-final games. Their respective conquerors were Mrs. Ed Gregory and Ted Fulkerson, who won by 2550 points, winning 11 boards, breaking even on three and losing seven, and bidding and making eight games against their opponents' four; Mrs. Sarah J. Haddon, who won by 2260 points; won seven boards, tied five and lost eight, and bid and made nine games against their opponents' four; and Mrs. Will Flood and H. G. Serene, who won by 2720 points, won 12 boards; tied two and lost six, and bid and made 12 games against their opponents' eight.

In the single semi-final test Sandon and Newcomer won by 3070 points, winning 12 boards, tying three and losing five, and bidding and making eight games, as did their opponents.

At least three counterfeit $20 bills were passed in Santa Ana stores yesterday afternoon and this morning, it was learned today.

All of the bills were different. Two of them were taken up at a local bank, one of which was an excellent counterfeit of a $20 gold certificate, series of 1928 with a check letter "H" and a serial number, A-20797438-A. The bill was printed on paper which even had silk threads in it, the only discrepancy being that the threads were straight up and down instead of being curly.

A bogus $20 Federal Reserve note, a poor imitation printed on inferior paper, was also taken up at the bank. It was on the San Francisco Federal Reserve bank, series of 1928 and had L-03069532-A for its serial number. The serial number was blurred.

Another $20 Federal Reserve note was received by a merchant here. The serial number was blurred, but began with an "B" and ended with an "A."

Small articles were purchased with the bills and change was received.

Secret service operatives are coming here today to investigate.

A Cavalli, manager of the San Antonio Merchants' association, today warned members of the organization against receiving $20 bills unless they were sure they are genuine.

TEACHERS PICNIC

PLACENTIA, April 12.—A group of teachers of Placentia Union Grammar school district had a picnic in Brea canyon Monday night. They were Cleo Holder Ruby Saylor, Eleanor Kent, Helen Wilson, Thelma Burdett, Lois Schroeder, Margaret Dean, Theresa Ross, Lily Hansen, Cora Willis, Mrs. Clara Woodward, Helen Drake and Marie Cline.

BOARD DELAYS ACTION ON L. B. BEER MEASURE

Deferring action until the state legislature has decided definitely the question of local option, the Laguna Beach city council last night failed to adopt a resolution, that had been prepared by City Attorney Milburn G. Harvey, calling for a special election May 8 to decide whether or not the people of Laguna Beach wanted alcoholic beer sold in that city.

Mayor Frank B. Champion said it would be a useless expense to publish the resolution and go through with the machinery of the election if the state decided to use the authority given in Proposition No. 2 on the November ballot to exercise the exclusive right to control and license.

Harvey said the question was now up to the senate, the assembly having knocked the local option section from the pending bill. Councilmen M. B. McMillan and George W. Wilson, concurred with Mayor Champion and in the absence of Councilmen J. E. Bishop and C. R. Clapp, the vote was unanimous.

The council passed a drastic emergency ordinance against drunkenness, calling for a fine of $300 or 60 days in jail or both. When the city's "Little Volstead act" was repealed last fall, no provision was made against intoxication and until the ordinance is published the police have no power to make arrests. The emergency clause in the new ordinance calls attention to this fact.

Mrs. Miriam Hedges Smith informed the council that she had been appointed registrar of workers by the county welfare department to choose the men who will be employed under the $50,000 Reconstruction Finance corporation fund allotted to the county. She declared that unless there is a local project, 16 men from Laguna Beach will be sent to work on the state park at San Clemente. They will receive $2.50 per day for six days' work and will work seven hours a day.

City Clerk G. W. Prior was asked to learn from the welfare department if the men could be put to work on the improvement of Heister park in Laguna Beach, for which the city council has no appropriation. Mrs. Smith informed the council that the workers must find their own transportation to San Clemente.

Attorney Harvey handed to each member of the council a copy of a proposed ordinance regulating the sale of alcoholic beverages. As drafted, the ordinance would permit the sale of 3.2 per cent alcoholic content beer in three classes and would confine the drinking of beer on the premises to the dining rooms of hotels and restaurants.

At the request of the chamber of commerce, the council voted $50 toward the expense of broadcasting music from a dance hall for the next five months.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY CALLS OUT POLICE

Santa Ana police were called to the home of District Attorney S. B. Kaufman at 901 Lowell street at 3:20 a. m. today when Kaufman reported that someone was prowling around the outside of his home.

A search of the neighborhood failed to reveal any trace of the persons however, who apparently disappeared after the call to police was made.

SCHOOL BOARD SEEKS LOAN ON QUAKE DAMAGE

Unless congress approves the Wagner bill, now before it, there is little hope that the Santa Ana board of education will be able to secure federal aid in repairing damage to school buildings caused by the earthquake.

The Wagner bill, according to W. M. Burke, who, with M. B. Youel was named as a committee to investigate the possibility of securing federal aid, said that the Wagner bill sets aside additional funds for earthquake areas. Burke said that he had been advised by H. H. Cotton that this proposed measure offers the best hope for the school board.

It was first thought that the $3500 for necessary repairs to the schools damaged here could be obtained from the $5,000,000 quake relief fund. Investigation revealed that this fund will not be available to cities of school districts until all other applicants have been provided for. Loans under this appropriation, Burke reported, would have to be secured and the only security that could be offered would be a bond issue which would necessitate calling an election.

Hope of obtaining the money from the $50,000 fund appropriated to Orange county for unemployment relief was abandoned with the ruling that none of the money could be used for material.

There was a third possibility of obtaining aid Burke said when he heard that plans were being discussed for obtaining quake relief loans from the state pension fund. No reply has been received in inquiries relative to this possibility.

Mrs. Musolf Makes Bail; Waits Trial

Mrs. Walter Musolf, of Huntington Beach, who recently was arrested on a charge of driving an auto while intoxicated, made bail of $2000 a few hours after she was booked at the jail and returned to her home early that afternoon to await appearance before superior court. It is expected an information will be filed before the court next Friday.

Council Awards First Gas Contract To Standard

JOBLESS MEN TO BEGIN WORK ON THURSDAY

ORANGE, April 12.—After having considered the matter at several previous meetings, the city council yesterday afternoon made a decision to award contracts for supplying the city with gasoline to distributors of different brands for periods of three months each.

The decision was reached following a motion to this effect made by Ben Dierker and seconded by A. H. Helm, with E. M. Chapman voting with them. Councilman C. J. Hassell and Mayor Clyde Watson voted in the negative on the motion. The Standard Oil company will have the first three months of the contract.

The sum of $305.51 was received from the Southern California Edison company for franchise tax. The total paid by residents for lighting their homes was stated as $13,375.49.

Charles F. Barisale, accountant, submitted a report to the city in which he stated that he had examined the books and records of the city clerk and the city treasurer from July 1, 1932 to February 28, 1933, and had found them correct. He recommended that the offices of the city clerk and the city treasurer be separated as the city clerk is not bonded to handle water collections. A. H. Helm was appointed by the mayor to make arrangements for a partition between the offices.

Sixty-two men will go to work tomorrow morning clearing the newly acquired city land on the Santiago creek preparatory to the establishment of a ball park on this site, according to an announcement made by Mayor Clyde Watson.

The mayor stated that the work would be done with $10,000 in R. F. C. funds received by the city and that during the month, 157 men would work six days each from 8 a. m. to noon and from 1 p. m. to 4 p. m. W. W. Wilson has been appointed as the investigator to allot work and he will pick the workers at the Orange Community Welfare store. Picks, shovels, mattocks and wheelbarrows are to be secured from the county. Men are to receive $2.50 a day.

Mayor Watson said that definite plans for next month's work have not yet been completed. Men are to be rotated in the work. It is estimated that the number of unemployed men in the city totals 250. The work will be commenced with leveling of the land, which is pitted from gravel excavations. The property formerly was owned by the Consolidated Rock company. Arrangements were made to place a waterline to the creek while men are working there. Six acres are to be leveled.

Th other projects are the extension of the storm drain from Orange street on West Chapman avenue to Center street. C. C. Bonebrake, city street superintendent, stated that this work would not be commenced until the period for spring rains is over, there being a likelihood, he said, of rain occurring the latter part of this month.

The other project is the extension of the water mains on North Balaire street beginning at Palm street and extending 3300 feet. Six-inch pipe is to replace the present two-inch. Work on this project will be begun in three or four weeks.

The sum of $37,621.33 will be transferred from the water fund of the city to the improvement fund and $23,744.55 to the general fund, according to action taken, when an ordinance to this effect was adopted.

The Pam La Products, 405 West Walnut street, made an application for the wholesale distribution of 32 beer and wine when there is any change in the ordinance allowing for the distribution. No action was taken.

EXPLAINS DELAY ON P. O. AT BEACH

HUNTINGTON BEACH, April 12.—That Huntington Beach will assuredly get a new post office was indicated in a letter read at the chamber of commerce luncheon at the Golden Bear cafe Monday by Mrs. May S. Jackson, secretary of the chamber. The letter was from Sam L. Collins, congressman from this district, who at the request of the chamber had sought information as to the status of the new post office building.

Congressman Collins' letter read: "I am advised by the supervising architect of the treasury department that no action has been taken on the Huntington Beach federal building because of the desire of the department to make no commitments until the new secretary has his organization completed and some program of procedure worked out. For this reason all work of a similar nature is being held up at the present time."

"I am in hopes the department will soon be ready to proceed, and I assure you I will do anything I can to hasten the construction work on the new federal building in your city."

NOTED WOMAN TRAINER WITH BARNES CIRCUS

Thrill!
They pep up a sluggish circulatory system, break the monotony of life, provide a vital tonic which brings the glow and sparkle to the cheeks and eyes. Such are the sentiments of Miss Mabel Stark, recognized as the greatest woman wild animal trainer of all time, who will appear in Santa Ana, Monday, April 17, when the Al G. Barnes Circus comes for two performances at 2 and 3 p. m.

"Giving the wild eyed populace a thrill in these hectic days is merely a matter of courting death," says Miss Stark. "Hazardous stunts of other years get the thumbs down from the present generation and command little or no attention."

Twice each day Miss Stark battles seventeen jungle bred Royal Bengal tigers in the heavily gilded steel arena of the Al G. Barnes Circus. She has had a hundred narrow escapes.

There are hundreds of performing animals with the Al G. Barnes Circus this season. All champion trainers of Europe and America will be seen along with more than 200 acrobatic, male and female artists. There are 1000 people altogether with the big show. Hundreds of horses are carried. Three special trains are used to transport the circus from city to city; twenty-two tents house the migratory aggregation, which covers more than 12 acres of ground.

PARENTS OBJECT TO OPERATION ON BABE

HASTINGS, N. Y., April 12.—(UP)—Unless physicians remove the left eye of two-year-old Helen Vasko, she will die.

The baby's mother, preferring death for her child to blindness, refused today to permit an operation and went to court to enforce her "rights" as a parent.

The physicians, a priest, a judge of the children's court, have argued patiently with Mrs. John Vasko and her husband, a laborer. Every plea has been in vain, first because "these doctors are crazy," second because "God gave her to me—and if he wants her he will take her."

POSSIBILITY OF DELAY IN STATE REPEAL ELECTIONS SEEN BY ANTI-LIQUOR WORKER

Doubt whether it will be possible to hold an election on the repeal of the Eighteenth amendment on June 6, as has been proposed, was expressed by A. F. Newcomb, Anti-Saloon League secretary, of Los Angeles, in an address before the advisory board of the Santa Ana Dry association at the Y. M. C. A. last night.

TRIAL OF FIVE DAMAGE SUITS IS UNDER WAY

Five damage suits demanding judgments totaling more than $130,000 from Rolf Von Eckartsberg were consolidated for trial and are now being heard before Superior Judge G. K. Scovel and a jury in department three, superior court.

The damage suits are the aftermath of an automobile collision on North Main street last fall in which three Orange High school students were killed, another seriously injured and a passenger in Von Eckartsberg's automobile seriously injured.

Three of the damage suits were filed by parents of the two boys and the girl killed in the crash, another was filed by the mother of the injured youth and the fifth was filed by the friend of Von Eckartsberg who was riding with him at the time of the crash.

Mrs. Bessie Leutinger, mother of Mark Leutinger, one of the crash victims, is suing for approximately $20,000; J. C. Hill, father of Dorothy Hill, is demanding approximately $25,000 for the death of his daughter; and Edward L. Worden, father of Ronald Worden, is suing for $25,000 for his son's death. In a suit filed in his behalf by his mother, Mrs. Laura Johnson, Edwin Johnson, driver of the automobile in which the high school student victims were riding, is demanding $25,000 for injuries he received in the accident and his mother is suing for $1833 special damages in the same action. Oliver Griffin, a passenger in the automobile driven by Von Eckartsberg, recently filed suit against his friend for $25,000.

Griffin, in his suit, alleged that Von Eckartsberg, at the time of the crash, was driving his automobile on the wrong side of the highway.

ALL DAY PRAYER MEET
An all-day prayer meeting will be held at the Church of the Brethren, Ross and Camille streets, tomorrow, beginning at 10 a. m. and ending at 3 p. m. It was announced today. Leaders of the meeting will be the Rev. W. Cameron Townsend, Guatemala missionary, the Rev. M. Brooks, India missionary, the Rev. J. Gish and the Rev. E. M. Robb, pastor of the Free Methodist church.

According to Newcomb's report, today would have been the final day for filing petitions of nomination for members of the repeal convention, and his organization had been unable, up to yesterday, to secure any of the petition blanks to be filled out. On this account, he predicted that it will be found necessary either to set the special election projected in the state to a later date, or to call another special election on the repeal convention matter.

Delay in holding the election will contribute materially to the safety of the eighteenth amendment, said the speaker, "for a little experience with legalized liquor is going to open the eyes of a multitude of people to the situation which we face when prohibition is repealed," he said. The idea that beer will bring back business was discussed on the basis of experience. Newcomb referred to the report of the Massachusetts state commission, which, in 1912, one of the last normal years before prohibition, made a thorough study of liquor revenues. Their report showed that for every dollar received in liquor taxes and licenses, the state was paying out two dollars in caring for those impoverished by drink. How it will be possible for people who lack the necessities of life to purchase beer enough to pay any substantial revenue was a question which the speaker declined to answer.

Intoxication Question
The question of whether beer is intoxicating depends on the definition of intoxication, said Newcomb. Scientifically it has been shown that even a small amount of alcohol retards the mental reactions of the drinker to a dangerous extent. The highway department of Ontario, Canada, advises a warning to drivers that "from four to four hours after the taking of as much alcohol as there is in two ounces of whiskey, the mental processes, which normally take about one-fifth of a second require from two-fifths to three-fifths of a second."

"The question, with beer on sale," said Newcomb, "is not whether a man is drunk, but how drunk he is. A further element involved is the fact that a boy rarely learns to drink on hard liquor. He begins with beer, and progresses somewhat gradually to the stage where he can handle gin and whiskey. This is the feature of the beer legalization which is so dangerous to youth."

Steps were taken at the meeting of the Dry association advisory board, following the address of Newcomb, to set up a city-wide machinery by precincts for education of the voters prior to any election that may be held for the purpose of legalizing alcoholic beverage sale in Santa Ana. The members of the board, which is headed by the Rev. C. D. Hicks, expressed confidence in the good judgment of the people of Santa Ana which will hold the city in the dry column on the basis of its 30 year record of sobriety and decency, but they agreed that no effort should be spared in making victory certain, and so they are proceeding with a complete and thorough organization for that purpose.

Schools Not To Close Circus Day

Schools will not be closed early on circus day next Monday, although Superintendent of Schools Frank A. Henderson suggested to the board of education last night that on circus day elementary and junior high schools operate on a minimum day allowing the children to attend the circus. This suggestion was made, he said, to save money that would be lost through curtailed A. D. A. income for students who failed to attend during the afternoon session.

The proposal to close schools at 1 o'clock, circus day, was opposed by W. M. Burke who said, "It does not seem like good philosophy to me. The circus comes to town and takes away thousands of dollars and we deliberately encourage it by closing the schools in the afternoon." He also pointed out that by keeping the children in school during the afternoon it would save considerable money for parents who could ill afford to take their children at the circus.

ARRANGE INQUEST FOR CRASH VICTIM

CHANGES IN ADULT PROGRAM ARE SUGGESTED

Citing criticism aimed at the adult education work in the state and to free the Santa Ana board of education from these criticisms, Mrs. Golden Weston, director of that department last night notified the board of recommendations that she is making relative to work in her field.

In submitting her recommendations, Mrs. Weston declared in a letter to the board that many of the best authorities in the educational field have admitted that some of the criticisms are warranted. School men and laymen both have sounded the warning that since there is no limit upon the extent of adult education, there is danger of expanding the program beyond reason and thus making an undue strain upon the general funds for secondary education. Adult education has been attacked on the grounds that this department is a seeker after state funds based on a average daily attendance.

Recommendations submitted by Mrs. Weston were:

"That in no case shall the total attendance reported for any course (offered by the adult department) of any school exceed twice the number necessary to offset the actual expense of said course."

"That no course shall be offered whose actual expense shall exceed $50 per session."

That the total budget of the adult department shall in no case exceed 5 per cent of the total budget of the remaining secondary program of the district.

On the date, the 130th anniversary of the birth of Thomas Jefferson will be observed by millions of intelligent people, of whatever state or persuasion, religious or political.

It was the genius of Jefferson that instilled the spirit of democracy into American life. Democratic principles have won in the United States and the spirit of its founder shall live forever.

Students of political history will recall how, on March 4th, 1801, after 12 years of Federalist supremacy, Thomas Jefferson was inaugurated with simple ceremonies. Several of his biographers record how he sent a short, concise message to congress, to be read by a house clerk, in lieu of a personal, impressive appearance.

Excerpts from his first inaugural address, clearly define the character of his logical sequence of thought, as witness: "The support of the state governments in all their rights is a jealous case of the rights of election by the people - - - economy in public expense, that labor may be lightly burdened - - - encouragement of agriculture and commerce."

During his two administrations, his earnest desire was to reduce expenses wherever possible, and it is recorded that he slashed appropriations in the customs service, several departmental bureaus, and even practiced economy in the many personal. It has been said that no other president in history more completely controlled his cabinet and congress, as did Jefferson.

There was no important piece of legislation during the first eight years of the century, that did not bear the stamp of Jefferson's genius.

The Declaration of Independence, the effect of which have made of Americans, freemen, was written by Jefferson. He has been said that no other president in history more completely controlled his cabinet and congress, as did Jefferson.

Admirers of Jeffersonian principles will cherish forever such memory gems as those contained in the Statute of Virginia for Religious freedom, among such being: "No man shall be compelled - - - to suffer on account of his religious opinions or beliefs - - - and that the same in no wise shall diminish, enlarge or affect their civil capacities."

At the end of Jefferson's second term, eight of the various state legislatures pleaded with him to run a third term. He declined, stating that "it was well to establish a precedent for the future." He was one of our few Presidents who, having served two terms might have been elected a third time. At that particular time, seldom had national patriotism and confidence in the President reached such sublime heights.

Strawberry Growers Are Arrested

Three growers were arrested yesterday for packing boxes of green strawberries on deceptive pack, with too many small berries at the bottom, by George W. Sloop, standardization inspector of the Orange county agricultural commissioner's office.

The men, J. Uyeno, F. Yoshida and G. Masuda, were fined $25 and given a 10-day jail sentence each when they appeared in the Huntington Beach justice court yesterday. The fines and sentences were suspended for six months.

HUGE ARMY SAVING PLAN IS PRESENTED

WASHINGTON, April 12.—(UP)—Major General Johnson Hagood, who recently started his military colleagues by advocating drastic economies in the army, today presented a $50,000,000 plan of savings to the house military affairs committee.

The blunt little general, gray-haired and precise, waved his black ribboned glasses at a group of congressmen and freely predicted the collapse of the war department at the outbreak of the next hostilities.

ADVERTISING ORDERED FOR PROPERTY SALE

First legal step by the city school board toward trading the old Willard school property at Tenth and Main streets for the city hall site at Third and Main was taken last night.

The board voted instructions to Business Manager George Newcomb to advertise the property for sale at a minimum price of $50,000. Similar action in connection with the city hall property was taken Monday night by the city council.

The only possible hitch in the proposed "swap" of property would be if someone else offered $51,000 for either piece of property. The bids stipulate that the sale must be for cash.

Anticipating the trade and necessity, for moving, the Dorcas Society of the Seventh Day Adventists church which has been using a room in the old Willard building as headquarters for welfare work made application for quarters in the building on school property at Church and Sycamore streets. The letter was filed pending completion of the deal with the city.

$3,000,000 Added Income Seen For Fruit Growers

SHIPPING PLAN OUTLINED FOR FARM CENTER

PLACENTIA, April 12.—The agreement on marketing oranges made between the packing houses and co-operative marketing associations, if carried out this year, should add more than $3,000,000 to Orange county citrus growers' returns, Dr. D. D. Waynick told members of Placentia Farm center last night.

He outlined plans for co-operative marketing and declared that he thought enough acreage will be signed by next week to insure the regulated shipments of fruit. Work of marketing of valencias will start soon after, he said.

Dr. Waynick told of the bill now in the state legislature that provides for regulated stabilization and for marketing of perishable products, and said the pear growers already are organizing to function under the act.

In telling of the need for co-operative marketing, the citrus expert said that if Orange county had left her 36 1/2% in the field, it would have made the industry almost self-supporting last year. It will be necessary to sign up 30 per cent of the volume before it will be an effective co-operative effort, he said.

Harry Easton presented the speaker. He presided for the president, Harold Lang.

E. J. Menard gave a report compiled by the tax committee of the Farm Bureau on Orange county schools. He said the report is to be published in part. Easton responded to the report with the statement that we must stop the downward trend of oranges or citrus is doomed.

Ralph McFadden, president of Orange County Farm Bureau, commended Dr. Waynick and the tax committee for their work. W. M. Corey said he felt the administration is decidedly behind a constructive agricultural stabilization program.

Gerald Twombly made the report of the directors' meeting. McFadden reported on the plans for reforestation.

LAUNCH FIGHT AGAINST BEER IN PLACENTIA

PLACENTIA, April 12.—A fight against sale of beer and wine in Placentia was opened Tuesday by Placentia Women's Christian Temperance union at the all day meeting at the home of Mrs. William Bates in Yorba Linda, when a resolutions committee was elected to draw up a protest against proposed legislation for licensing the drinks. It will be presented Thursday morning.

The resolutions committee, Mrs. E. H. Brunemeler, Mrs. Pearl Davis, Mrs. Leroy Grimm, president, and Mrs. Frank Rosow, is also to consider circulation of a petition protesting the Placentia mayor allowing sales of drinks in one of his places of business. This resolution is on request of a member of the organization, who presented $10 to defray expenses involved in the circulation of the paper.

The chief speaker was Mrs. B. Bank, Hollywood, national director of temperance and missions, who told of the great need of courage in these days, and who urged that women get the missionary spirit in trying to get the nations to vote and to remain "dry."

In discussing the problem, she said the first record of prohibition propaganda is dated back to 1120 B. C., in the record of a Chinese address. In 1116 B. C. there is record of a law in China that permitted a death punishment for drinking intoxicating liquors.

Mrs. Bank drew attention to a poster which had been made by Mrs. Brunemeler and which drew first prize in the national contest. Ten women presented a short skit on the life line work of W. C. T. U. and Mrs. Brunemeler and Mrs. Ivon Pike read a dialogue. Mrs. Pike was elected assistant treasurer to take the place temporarily of Mrs. Earl Mathis, who is ill. Mrs. Mary Sunwalt led in the devotions.

Hall and Summers will present their debate, "The Aftermath," April 20. The place is not decided.

Others: "Ladylingers," Gregory; "Laughing Boy," La Farge, "Kindled Flame," Pedler; "Man in the White Slicker," Nason; "Beyond the Rio Grande," Rains.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Sheila Shayne, dancer, refuses to marry Dick Stanley, son of wealthy parents, who is in New York trying to learn to write plays. Sheila's idea of marriage is a cozy little home far from Broadway. Although she has spent all her life on the stage, she would be glad to leave the theater.

She secures a part in a road show and in a little midwestern city meets Jerry Wyman, who seems to be a hard working young man with little money. Sheila does not know Jerry's father. Finally the factory where he works. For a time Jerry is attentive and Sheila falls in love with him. Soon his affection seems to cool. He writes infrequently and this makes Sheila unhappy.

Back in New York, she gets a job in a fashionable night club. She sees Jerry there with some friends. He tells her he has tried to call her but she does not believe this and refuses to make an engagement with him.

She joins another road company and after several months they play in Jerry's home town. Each day she hopes to hear from him but no word comes. Finally she phones to him. Jerry comes to see her and at first is casual, then becomes the affectionate young suitor again. He promises to come to see her the following Wednesday in a nearby town. Jerry does not keep his promise. Weeks pass and Sheila has no word from him.

The four ends and the company returns to New York. Sheila meets Jappy, a chorus girl, and now go on with the story.

CHAPTER XXV

She drew the other girl after her into a tiny shop and ordered coffee for two. "Listen, Sheila," Jappy began slowly. "You've got to know this. Jerry Wyman is married and has been for three months. That girl you saw him with last summer—the one he said was his sister—well, she's Mrs. Wyman now. I thought I'd better tell you, but—oh, please, Sheila—don't look like that!"

The waitress brought the coffee and set it before the two girls. Coffee in green cups on a silver tray.

"But you mustn't take it that way!" Jappy said anxiously. "You mustn't! Why, Jerry Wyman isn't worth your little finger. Please, Sheila—"

"I'm all right," Sheila said, but her face was pale, her lips trembling. "I'm perfectly all right, Jappy." Her hands, beneath the table's edge, were gripped together. That seemed to help her steady herself.

to marry. He couldn't do that very well."

"No—I suppose not. Under the circumstances—"

Jappy's look was a question, unspoken. Sheila laughed bitterly. "I wasn't engaged to him. No. But he had talked about it. Oh, how melodramatic that sounds! But he had and, Jappy, I believed him, I thought—well, that he was different from the other men I know."

Jappy nodded wisely. "Sure, I know. It's because of this idea of yours about leaving the stage. You thought Jerry Wyman was different because he came from a small town and worked in a factory. Then when you knew he had money you were still sure he wasn't like the rich men in New York. But, Sheila, there are plenty of others. Better men than Jerry Wyman! Why, for half the devotion Dick Stanley has showered your way I'd dance the length of Broadway with hand springs thrown in!"

"But, Jappy, I love Jerry."

"He's not worth it!" They finished their coffee in silence, the noise, paid the check and went out on the street. It was the same street, familiar, noisy, cluttered with little shops, old houses with grimy stone fronts that had at one time housed the city's social elite. Taxicabs, trucks, private cars milling in the street. The curb was crowded with hurrying men and women, laundry boys, messengers with hands in pockets, whistling. The world was just as it had been, but for Sheila how different!

She walked slowly, her eyes blurred with tears. "There isn't anything you can do about it," offered Jappy uneasily. "I wouldn't have told you but I was afraid someone else would. But the bunch were talking about it at Frances Barton's. Frances used to live in Spencer. She knew Jerry Wyman when she was a kid. She thought you had been getting a rotten deal."

The hot color flooded Sheila's cheeks. So the "bunch" had been talking about her feeling for Jerry! Sheila herself had not discussed it except with Jappy and Tillie Samper. Tillie, in love with Jim Blaine, had been an interested listener. Girls in love have to talk about the objects of their devotion. Many an evening, curled up on her bed, Sheila had confided to Tillie. She had told her about the color of Jerry's hair, how blue his eyes were, how sunburned he was and how becoming was that tanned skin. But she had never repeated to Tillie the precious things Jerry had said—words which now she knew had meant less than nothing to him.

Jappy went on trying to make things easier. "Listen, honey," she said. "You weren't Jerry's kind. Oh, I know that you belong to one of the best families in the theater. You're aristocracy of the stage and all that. But in a town like Spencer people wouldn't understand about that. They think every girl on the stage wears too much paint and is no better than she should be. Can't you see how Jerry's parents would feel about his marrying a dancer? Jerry isn't to blame for everything, dear. He's been raised that way. There's a big difference to him between a girl who lives at home with her parents and is protected, and a girl like you or me."

"He did respect me, Jappy."

"The other girl considered this silently. Then she said, "Are you coming with me to Tommy Sloan's? I wish you would. I hate to leave you feeling the way I do. Maybe I'd better call Tillie—"

"No, don't bother," Sheila interrupted quickly. "She's working somewhere anyhow. I'll go with you to Tommy's and then when I'm feeling more like myself I'll go home."

A few days later Jappy heard the whole story from Frances Barton. "You see it was this way," Frances said. "I've known Jerry ever since I was a kid. He was no more than a boy when my folks couldn't afford to send me to private school. Jerry stopped inviting me to his parties. Marcia, his sister, never even knew I was alive."

"Later I joined a show and when we played in Spencer there was Jerry anxious to be seen with me, to show his friends that he knew a girl in the show. Maybe he really was in love with Sheila but he's been engaged to Jean Morgan for years. I guess the match was arranged when they were in their cradles. The Wyman and the Morgans are mixed up together in business. The Morgan girls and their set are the only ones who count according to the Wyman. The rest of us who work for a living simply don't rate. We're not important enough to be considered. And as for marrying one of us—well, that would be completely out of the question!"

"I think Sheila's pretty hard hit," Jappy told her. "Maybe she deserves a little punishment for the way she treats that nice Stanley boy."

"What's she doing to him?" Jappy's tone became instantly defensive.

"You're asking me?" Frances laughed. "When Sheila first met Dick he was a regular play boy. Everybody's friend, always out for a good time. Now you never see him anywhere. They say he's working—trying to write plays or something. Nobody even knows where he's living."

"And he's writing a play?"

"Well, so they tell me. They say he gets only a small allowance from his family, keeps himself shut up somewhere in an out-of-the-way place banging away at a typewriter."

"I suppose Dick was in love with Sheila," murmured Jappy.

"He is and always will be," the other girl assured her. "And that's why I think Sheila's such an idiot. Wasting her time thinking about Jerry Wyman when she could have Dick!"

Jappy considered this. Fond as she was of Sheila, she saw no way that she could do anything more to help her.

It was a few nights later that Tillie and Jim Blaine, on their way to see a new musical comedy, urged Sheila to come along with them. Jim boarded a downtown bus. The other four Samper sisters were appearing together, giving Tillie a free evening.

Sheila wearing a blue Chinese mandarin coat, was comfortably curled up on the living room divan. She smiled but shook her head. "Run along. I'd rather stay here and be lazy."

They could not persuade her to join them.

"Just bring me some salt water taffy," she called after them. Her voice sounded cheerful but when Tillie and her handsome young husband had departed Sheila turned her face against the pillow and lay silent for a long time.

"I think we'd better whisper a word of two into Dick Stanley's ear," Tillie was saying as she and Jim boarded a downtown bus. "I don't!" Jim objected. "But, darling, Dick loves her!" Of course he does. And Sheila loves a poor sap answering to the name of Wyman. If we let Dick know she's blue and he rushes in and wins he'll always have the sneaking feeling that she said 'yes' on the rebound. Let them alone. Tillie, I believe in fate. Dick will find Sheila if it is to be that way just as I found you."

Ruling that Trinidad Arriaga, Orange Mexican, had not been formally arrested and therefore was not guilty of escape Superior Judge James L. Allen yesterday dismissed charges against him.

Arriaga was accused of having walked away from Orange Police Officers Homer Davis and Jim Johnson left him in an automobile while they conducted their investigation of a stabbing of another Mexican.

The officers had picked Arriaga up for investigation in connection with the stabbing and left him, unwatched, in their automobile while they went into the house of Arriaga's alleged victim. The Mexican walked away while they were in the house.

In dismissing the charge against Arriaga Judge Allen pointed out that the police officers had served no warrant on the Mexican and that as he did not understand the English language there was no proof that the man knew that he was under arrest.

EXCHANGE SETS MEMBERSHIP CLOSING DATE

April 15 has been set as the closing date for accepting new memberships in associations affiliated with the Orange County Fruit Growers exchange, according to an announcement made today. It is stated that the associations have a definite ruling which prohibits the acceptance of new members between April 15 and October 15, with the exception of owners of new groves who are eligible for membership at any time.

The low purchasing power of consumers coupled with a large crop of valencias this season makes of great importance co-operation in spreading the crop among the markets of the country in proportion to the consuming capacities of these markets. It is pointed out.

The program of the California Fruit Growers exchange calls for members working together to reduce the costs of raising, harvesting, packing, transporting and selling. If California citrus growers are to be successful they must first produce ample crops of fruit and must work with other groups in marketing the crop, the associations believe.

Associations affiliated with the Orange County Fruit exchange are the Consolidated Orange Growers association, David Hewes Orange and Lemon association, Frances Citrus association, Golden West Citrus association, Irvine Valencia Growers, Olive Heights Citrus association, Santiago Orange Growers association, Tuslan Hills Citrus association, and Villa Park Orchard association.

GIANT MUSOLE SHOALS PLANS BEFORE SENATE

WASHINGTON, April 12.—(UP)—Senator Norris, Repn., Neb., today presented to the senate the administration's sweeping program for use of the giant Muscle Shoals hydro electric plant and development of the Tennessee River basin.

A proposed extension of interest in commerce commission authority to cover electric power transmitted interstate was not included in the bill, but Norris contemplated offering it as an amendment later.

The Norris bill was referred by the senate to the agriculture committee. At the same time on the house side Chairman McSwain of the military affairs committee introduced a companion measure along the lines of the Norris bill, but carrying a provision for a $50,000,000 bond issue, and an immediate $10,000,000 appropriation to expedite work.

Gets Support

For the first time since he began fighting for government operation of the great Alabama power projects and the distribution of cheap power to the south, Norris was assured of White House support.

The measure he introduced was drafted with the approval of President Roosevelt, who threw the weight of his prestige behind it in a special message to congress yesterday.

Cooperation with the corporation, the president would recommend to congress in his discretion legislation to improve the Tennessee basin by adequate flood control navigation development, power generation, use of marginal lands, reforestation and improvement of agriculture.

The Muscle Shoals section of the bill follows closely the lines of its predecessor sponsored by Norris, but supporters of the bill predicted it will be an integral part of the new administration's reconstruction and employment measures.

What It Could Do

The Tennessee River board would be clothed with broad authority to contract for commercial fertilizer production, to cooperate in experimentation work with farmers and local governments, to manufacture fixed nitrogen for military and agricultural purposes and to distribute power.

The war and navy departments could requisition at cost explosives manufactured by the corporation, and the war department would be furnished without charge power necessary for operation facilities.

States, counties, municipalities and co-operative organizations within transmission distance of Muscle Shoals would be given preference in the sale of power. Contracts with public power distributors would provide that no discrimination be made between consumers.

Contracts with privately owned distributors would specify that electricity must be resold to the consumer at a price that shall not exceed an amount fixed as reasonable, just and fair by the board.

Share Proceeds

Power contracts would be limited to 30 years, except in the case of public or co-operative distributors who agreed to construct connecting transmission lines with government facilities, in which event a 40 year limitation would be imposed.

Five per cent of the proceeds from the Muscle Shoals dam and from any steam plant construction in Alabama by the corporation would go to that state; an equal share of the proceeds from the Cove Creek dam would be allotted to Tennessee.

After completion of the Cove Creek dam the board would determine the amount of excess power produced at the Muscle Shoals, and 2 1/2 per cent of the proceeds from that excess would go to that state.

To cover future construction the corporation would be empowered to issue bonds payable from proceeds of the project. The approval of the president would be required.

The secretary of war would be authorized to complete the projected installation of power units at Muscle Shoals and to construct the Cove Creek dam with a minimum output of 200,000 horsepower.

The house bill authorizes the Tennessee Valley authority to finance development of the project through the $50,000,000 bond issue, and also sets aside $2,000,000 for the initial appropriation for beginning construction of Cove Creek dam and production of fertilizer.

MEDAL RECEIVED BY WAR VETERAN

WESTMINSTER, April 12.—A local World War veteran, Ed C. Pinard, has received the Purple Heart medal awarded for bravery in action.

Pinard was a member of Company A, 316th Engineers, taking part in the Chateau Thierry and Argonne drives. The citation for bravery dates back to a happening on September 29, 1918. His section of the platoon advanced after an all day wait into the German trenches, before it was discovered that the remainder of the platoon had become separated. Pinard worked his way back to the other men to deliver orders for their advance.

That same evening Pinard sustained wounds in both legs and his shoulder and for nine months was in French hospitals and later in New York.

WASHINGTON

BUDGET

President Roosevelt has put through his easy budget policy without letting anyone know about it.

Congress is beginning to realize it but is saying nothing. A few cries of anguish are arising from the Republican side but no one pays any attention. So skillfully was the maneuver worked out that the issue has never been raised. The policy has never even been mentioned.

The President has just gone along quietly recommending appropriations outside the budget. Congress has gone along authorizing them. The aim is being accomplished without debate. The budget will show a paper balance. Respect for government bonds is being maintained. No increase in taxes will be necessary. Unquestionably it is the most brilliant inside accomplishment of the new Administration so far.

The exact amount segregated outside the budget cannot be told accurately. That is another tribute to the skill of the move. You can prove on paper that it may be over four billion. That is not a fair figure. Much of the amount authorized will not be spent. But you can fairly say that out of $470,000,000 potentially involved in the Roosevelt program only $260,000,000 is specifically in the budget.

Those figures include $2,350,000,000 in the farm program of which $65,000,000 is inside the budget; $1,500,000,000 for home loan banks (not yet authorized); $149,000,000 for reforestation (in the budget); $45,000,000 for naval construction (in the budget); $500,000,000 for direct relief (outside) and $100,000,000 for Muscle Shoals (outside).

All that is being accomplished without disturbing the budget balancing zealots.

When everyone finds out what is happening some people will undoubtedly bestir themselves about it. They might as well save their breath.

The truth is there is no other way for the thing to be worked out. Also it is not an unusual subterfuge in experimentation work with farmers and local governments, to manufacture fixed nitrogen for military and agricultural purposes and to distribute power.

The essential thing is that Mr. Roosevelt has established the confidence of the world in his government management. He has cut expenses to the bone. No ill effects are yet visible or in prospect.

On the other side of the budget Mr. Roosevelt is bringing in: Beer $150,000,000; gasoline tax $130,000,000; economies probably $390,000,000; total $1,170,000,000.

The bright side of that situation is complicated somewhat by the expectation that the new income taxes will probably bring 15 per cent less than expected.

RAILS

The public will never know the troubles Mr. Roosevelt had with his railroad legislation. It has been delayed fully two weeks by the refusal of rail executives and labor to go along with what he originally had in mind.

The White House grapevine reported in Congress last week that the plan had been diluted to half its original strength. Rail lobbyists reported to their headquarters that the legislation would be meaningless. Their reports were probably premature.

Mr. Roosevelt was obviously trying to wear down the bickerers.

RADIO

There are good reasons for believing Mr. Roosevelt decided at one time to carry his railroad troubles to the people in a Sunday night radio speech. Two weeks afterward he is supposed to have had time tentatively reserved on the air for a speech announcing refunding of Liberty bonds. He may make this second speech yet.

He alone knows why he decided against the broadcasts.

ADJOURNMENT

Optimistic tales about early adjournment of Congress must be taken with reservations. The end is not in sight. The leaders are predicting May 15 and June 1. It will more likely be late in the summer. The only way Mr. Roosevelt could get them out of town any sooner is to order them out.

Activity in Congress has been much less feverish lately. The boys are taking their time with everything. The House has been sitting only four days a week and the Senate five.

The day of passing things on Mr. Roosevelt's orders without question is now gone. Regular times are returning even in Congress.

BARUCH

The best sleight of hand on the Farm Bill was performed by that able Wall Street farmer, Bernard Baruch. He has made plenty of dollars grow but never a seed.

railroad legislation negotiations the railroads were willing to put in a pensions system for those laid off by the reorganization. . . .

Prosecutor Pecora is out for a record in the Morgan investigation and it looks as if he will get it. . . .

Mrs. Roosevelt gives the proceeds of her magazine articles to her own private charities, including milk stations in New York. . . .

It can be told that former State Secretary Stimson and Premier MacDonald nearly forgot diplomacy on MacDonald's last visit. . . .

Before leaving London Mr. MacDonald announced he and Stimson were agreed on three points. . . .

Stimson blew up saying he did not know anything about three points and adding: "I know a lot more than Mr. MacDonald does even about his own navy." . . .

Stimson was right. . . . There was virtually no agreement on anything.

INFLATION

Well posted New Yorkers hear that the Government is planning a deflationary cleanup for the next two months—with special reference to railroads and real estate. After that they expect a policy of controlled inflation along definite lines—without devaluing the dollar or abandoning the gold base.

The anticipated plan calls for the issue of $7,000,000,000 of government bonds for public works at the rate of $1,000,000,000 a month. The banks are expected to absorb these issues without protest and to turn over a large proportion of them to the Federal Reserve in exchange for the new Federal Reserve Bank notes. So far applications for this currency have been decidedly limited.

The new money will be used largely to pay off workers for the government construction program and the reforestation project. This will give the increase in the circulation medium for which the inflationists have been clamoring.

The effort will be to spur prices and employment without depreciating the dollar or destroying bond values. Wall Street admits it will be a good trick if it works.

European interest in possible American inflation is growing like orders for 3.2. New York banks with foreign connections and foreign consulates are fairly swamped with inquiries.

FEDERAL RESERVE

The Federal Reserve has already begun to set the stage for its share in the inflation proceedings.

The lowering of the rediscount rate last week was primarily intended to strengthen the prices of government and other high grade bonds. It is also hoped that the lower rate will stimulate commercial borrowing. The Federal Reserve Bank of New York is heading every least whisper from Washington these days.

BANKS

The Roosevelt principle of decentralizing authority will apply to reorganizing banks in which the R. F. C. holds preferred stock. Common stockholders—representing local capital—will be given a free hand in the selection of directors and the R. F. C. will not exercise its voting rights unless the management diverges from the Treasury's idea of sound banking. Home Rule will be in order but the Government will park a club to swing if necessary.

Local bankers criticize the Treasury privately on not calling for statements of condition at the end of March. They claim that interested depositors will wonder why. Most New York banks published reports on their own initiative.

The Corn Exchange bank made the best showing among local institutions in maintaining deposits. The shrinkage from December 31 to March 31 was only 2 per cent. Irving Trust and Central Hanover dropped 7 per cent; Guaranty Trust and New York Trust 8 per cent; National City and Chemical National 15 per cent. All made a big comeback after the holiday. Chase National had not reported when this was written.

There has been a slight shrinkage in the proportion of cash and governments to deposits since the end of the year. The Guaranty Trust ratio dropped from 71 to 68 per cent and the Corn Exchange from 61 to 52 per cent.

HOCHI

The German-American circles throughout the country have drafted New York men of influence to protest that they are being left out of the patronage deal. Switched over from the Democratic fold to the Republican in 1920 and held there until 1932, they came back then with a rush to the Democratic bandwagon.

The prospect of what 20,000,000 "forgotten Democrats" might do for the Republicans in four years' time is spurring the Administration to look around actively to see what can be done for them.

MOVIE

M-G-M will shortly release a movie titled "Looking Forward"—from President Roosevelt's book A Caption at the beginning of the picture will quote from the book's introduction.

The picture had already been completed—based on an English short story named "Service"—before M-G-M had the bright idea about the title. It was rushed to Washington for a private showing at the White House before the President would consent to negotiations. It is a love story of the courage of youth.

The contract specified the highest price ever paid by a movie company for a title. An odd angle is that five books of the same title have been published in the last five years.

Changes Made In Proposed County Water Measure

NOW PROVIDES FOR ELECTION IMMEDIATELY

At least two major changes in the proposed Orange county water district bill, designed to replace the present Orange county flood control district act, have been made in the measure, it was learned today.

The bill originally was drafted to embrace four major projects, protection of Orange county's water rights in the upper Santa Ana basin lands, flood control, importation of water and sewage reclamation.

The sewage reclamation clause has been definitely dropped from the measure, according to a statement made today by A. W. Rutan, water attorney, who was instrumental in drafting the measure.

Another major change which has been made in the proposed bill is that the clause calling for the appointment of directors of the various divisions which would be set up inside the district, has been changed to call for an immediate election of the board. The former clause provided for the appointment of directors by the board of supervisors, to serve until an election scheduled for about two years in the future. The district is to consist of seven members.

The bill, which was to have been sent to the state legislature last week, will not be sent to Sacramento until late this week, Rutan said.

Although there has been no definite action on the part of many cities in the county as to whether or not they would consider being included in the district, Rutan said that probably the Metropolitan Water District cities in Orange county were definitely out.

He said he had made a proposition to the Metropolitan Water District cities, prorating the share of the taxes in proportion to the amount of water used by the cities from the basin. The maximum tax allowed by the district is five cents on the $100 assessed valuation. He explained this by saying that if a city used half basin water and half Metropolitan water, they would pay but half of the district tax rate.

While the outside boundaries of the district will remain about the same as originally planned, the boundaries of the subdistricts have not yet been definitely outlined, Rutan said.

OPPOSITION TO PROPOSAL FOR CONSOLIDATION

Official circles of Orange county are ready to strenuously oppose a constitutional amendment proposed in the state legislature to reduce the number of counties in the state from 57 to 28. The consolidation move was proposed by Assemblyman B. J. Fiegenbaum, San Francisco, as an economy move.

He argues that the cost of government would be greatly reduced under the program. Replying to this statement, Orange county officials point to the fact that should the amendment become a law, Los Angeles county could annex Orange county in spite of the opposition of the annexed territory. Such annexation, it is pointed out, would increase taxes here and muzzle property owners in administering their tax money.

Willard Smith, chairman of the board of supervisors, pointed out that a "joker" in the proposed legislation, in the form of a section giving the legislature the power to consolidate counties "but only with the approval of the majority of the districts affected," would enable the larger counties to annex almost any small county desired.

Recalls Battle

Smith said: "Orange county succeeded in withdrawing from Los Angeles county in 1889 only after a long and bitter battle and it is hardly conceivable that the people would stand for any legislation that would make it possible to even call for an election with the object of consolidating the two counties again."

County officials pointed out that should the constitutional amendment carry it would be possible for Los Angeles county to call an annexation, or consolidation, election and by a majority vote in that county bring about the consolidation regardless of the Orange county vote.

Supervisor W. C. Jerome of the first district said that while he believed in consolidation of city and county government into one unit he is opposed to further consolidation such as that would create a unit to unwieldily for either efficiency or economy.

Valuations Higher

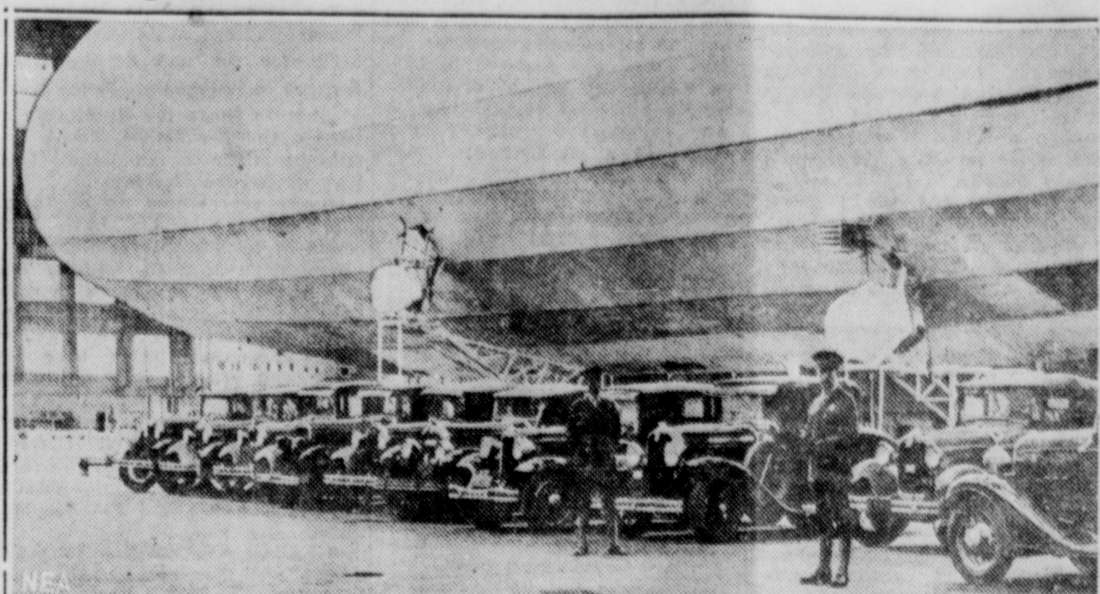

County Assessor James Sleeper pointed out the cost to Orange county property should such a proposal ever become a fact. Taxes, based upon their present rates, would increase at least 30 per cent for Orange county property holders and would decrease benefits received here, he said.

Sleeper pointed out that in Los Angeles county taxes are levied on a higher assessed valuation than in Orange county at present. Los Angeles assessed valuation is on a 50 per cent basis while in Orange county property is assessed at one-third the actual value.

Tax rates in Los Angeles are $1.52 inside and $1.67 outside and in Orange county the inside rate is $1.673 and outside $1.77. The increase in taxes would come through the greater assessed valuation.

Other county officials point to the fact that such consolidation would not effect economy unless present services extended in this county were discontinued or agencies handling the services decreased in personnel. Such decrease, they point out, would result in inefficiency and curtailed service.

SCHOOL CALENDAR FOR NEXT YEAR ADOPTED; FALL TERM TO OPEN ON SEPTEMBER 11

Schools will open, following the summer vacation on September this year. This opening date was decided upon last night by the board of education when the calendar for 1933-34 was adopted. June 15 was set as the date for closing the schools. The same schedule has been adopted for county schools, according to Superintendent Ray Adkinson.

The schools will be closed November 30 and December 1 for the Thanksgiving holiday and will begin the Christmas holiday when schools close Friday afternoon, December 15. The Christmas holiday will continue till Tuesday, Jan. 2, when schools will re-open. Spring vacation will be from March 26 to March 30 inclusive. This date, as usual, will be during Holy Week so that children of the Episcopalian and Catholic churches will be free to attend services in their churches without the necessity of losing school time.

There is no holiday this year for Armistice day as it falls on Saturday. The schedule as adopted follows:

September 11, opening date of schools.

November 10, end of first quarter.

November 13, beginning of second quarter.

November 30, December 1, Thanksgiving vacation.

December 18, beginning of Christmas vacation.

January 1, end of Christmas vacation.

January 2, re-opening of schools.

January 26, end of second quarter.

January 29, beginning of third quarter.

March 26, beginning of spring vacation.

COUNTY P.-T. A. ANNUAL MEET SET APRIL 20

The topic for the annual meeting of the Fourth District Parent-Teacher association will be centered around the general theme of "Mental Hygiene" at the session to convene April 20 in Garden Grove. Mrs. R. W. Marvin, of Anaheim, president, has announced.

Two well known educators are scheduled to appear, Dr. Norman Fenton, of the Bureau of Juvenile Research, and Dr. Aaron Rosanoff, of the University of Southern California. They will be on the program in the afternoon session.

Dr. J. E. Water, appointed chairman of a committee on investigation of communistic activity in Orange county early in the year, will speak at 11:20 a. m., bringing a summary of his findings. At 11 a. m., Dr. Regina Westcott Wieman will present a resume of her work in Orange county, reporting on the general topic of "Mental Hygiene Program".

Three officers are to be elected at the morning session, a vice-president, a recording secretary and a treasurer. Mrs. Carl Sutton, of Orange, is now vice-president. Mrs. Earl Atkins, of Fullerton, recording secretary and Mrs. L. L. Williams of Orange, treasurer.

The session will be at the grammar school at Anceia and Seventh streets. Luncheon will be served at noon. Members of the Garden Grove High school and grammar school Parent-Teacher associations will be hostesses. All sessions are open to those interested in the topics under discussion. Special musical numbers are to be presented.

The Santa Ana American Legion post will hold its regular meeting in the Orange American Legion home tomorrow night. It was announced today and all Legion members are to bring their wives or their girl friends, for the meeting is to be a pot luck dinner affair followed by a dance.

This program was scheduled for last month, but the earthquake caused it to be postponed until this time.

The Orange post of the Legion has been invited to attend with the women from that city also invited and the dance and meeting is expected to be one of the biggest both posts have had in a long time.

Elmer R. Murphy, of Pasadena, who recently visited Russia, is slated for the principal address of the evening. He will tell intimate details of the conditions in Russia as he saw them.

Music for the dance will be furnished by the Gold Coast Orchestra.

Discussion on a new clubhouse for Santa Ana also is to be made and the executive committee will report what it has done about the much discussed subject.

LEGION WOMEN WILL FURNISH VET SUN ROOM

Meeting in La Habra yesterday, the Orange County Council of the American Legion Auxiliary voted to supply various articles for the entertainment of veterans at the Saverille hospital. Each auxiliary will be asked to supply articles.

The decision to aid the veterans came following a report made by Mrs. Fannie Reeves of Santa Ana, member of the investigating committee, who said the veterans needed pillows, birds, goldfish, pictures, phone, card tables, cards and jigsaw puzzles to complete the furnishing of a new sun room which has just been built.

In observance of National Music week, the council will stage an appropriate program either at Orange or Placentia on the evening of May 2. Music week is from May 1 to 7. Mrs. Margaret Colvin of Huntington Beach, state and county music chairman, requested that each unit of the council furnish one member of the music program.

Child Welfare Work

A noon luncheon was served in the Woman's club house, where the meeting was held, with places set for 52. A class in parliamentary law was conducted during the morning session by Mrs. Margaret Kalding of Los Angeles.

At the business session in the afternoon, Mr. Edith Wilson, president of the council, presided and Miss Kate Ray, of Santa Ana, chairman of the White House conference in child welfare work for Orange county, gave a report on work of the conference. She asked that one member from each of the 14 districts in the county be appointed to the conference to care for child welfare work.

Miss Ruth Jellis of Santa Ana was installed as marshal at the meeting by Mrs. Florence Smith, of Anaheim, district president.

A card party at the San Fernando soldier's home was announced for April 17.

Over 75 people, including Sunday school children and members and friends of the Fellowship class, were present. Community songs were sung, led by the school superintendent, E. W. Fischer, with Mrs. R. E. Hill at the piano, and brief talks were made by the Rev. Russell C. Stroup, the pastor; S. D. Percy, class teacher, and George Russell, class president.

Government Reforms, Biography Dominate Valley Address

Substantiating her claim that even such economic disturbances as the French Revolution and the Civil war seem mild after the eruptions of March, 1933, Mrs. Jack Valley, speaking Monday before Santa Ana Ebell society in Ebell clubhouse, cited the successive federal steps taken by President Roosevelt to meet current emergencies, before retreating a century and a half to consider the closed case of Marie Antoinette and The Citizens.

Reviewing American problems in the order of their executive consideration, the speaker weighed proposed bank reforms; the economy and beer bills as budget balancing factors, and arguments for and against intended farm relief. While suggesting that the absence of bank failures in Canada and England might be attributed to the greater severity of their laws, Mrs. Valley quoted a Los Angeles banker to the effect that the public, rather than the bankers, would oppose pending American reforms.

French Queen Argued

The tragedy of the mediocre individual burdened with too weighty responsibility is unfolded in Stef-an Zweig's "Marie Antoinette." The speaker declared it outstanding in a group of four current biographies including also "Andrew Jackson" (James); "Beauregard" (Bas-so) and "Lucky Baldwin" (Glass-cock).

The effect of the too sudden thrusting of civilization on a primitive human being is studied in "Man of Two Worlds" (Morgan) while its complement is Merrick's "True North." Mrs. Valley maintained.

Two adventure-sea stories recommended to the masculine reader were "Riker of the Seven Seas" (Riker) and Pryce Mitchell's "Deep Water," the latter termed by critics "the greatest sea classic since 'Two Years Before the Mast.'" A tale of family life from the relatively unexplored viewpoint of a father, is "This My House" by Nella Gardner White. Such weighty immaterials as time and relativity, with the theory of reincarnation thrown in, form the basis of "A Man Named Luke" (Cost).

Human Need Conceded

Less fantastic than earlier works, Christopher Morley's newest writing, "Human Being," will prove his most popular, in the opinion of Mrs. Valley.

Another bit of gospel with an equally satisfying sugar coating is buried in a book by Arthur Wiegall called "Laura Was My Camel." Also recommended was Sidney Howard's "The Late Christopher Bean."

Tea followed in the peacock room, with Mrs. Paul Bailey, president, and Mrs. Perry F. Schrock and Mrs. Edith W. Thatcher of the public affairs committee, presiding. The fund acquired will go to the Santa Ana Junior College Student Loan fund.

Following an enjoyable luncheon yesterday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Mabel Sherwood, 1235 Maple avenue, members of the Woman's Auxiliary to Santa Ana Typographers' Union No. 579, held a business session during which plans were made for activities of the next few weeks.

LeBard Home Setting For Bridge Tea Hospitality

A courtesy extended Mrs. James W. Dickson of 334 Harwood place by Mrs. Harry LeBard and Mrs. Howard McDonald Saturday afternoon took the form of a bridge tea, given in the LeBard residence at 1225 South Parton street.

Full advantage was taken of the oncoming Easter season, decorations of the home finding expression in the sweet peas, stock and centerpieces which formed lovely centerpieces, and in the nut baskets and other appointments which graced the several tables at tea time.

Bridge play, introduced earlier, provided an hour or so of card competition which brought reward to Mrs. Clarence McFadden, holder of high score, and to Miss Maurine Mathes, claiming second honors.

Tea served at the gaily decked tables was a pleasant concluding feature shared by the hostesses' guests, who included Mrs. James E. M. Sundquist, Mrs. Hall, Russell Wilson, John McFadden, Frank Hoffman, DeRoy Dickson, Clifford Cole, Francis Edmunds, Harold Carnahan, George Horton, Mildred Decker, Frank Miller, Oscar Carrothers, Russell Hardcastle; the Misses Maurine Mathes, Ruth Langley, all of this city; Mrs. Clarence McFadden of San Juan Capistrano; Mrs. Cecil Gibbs, of Fullerton; and Mrs. LeBard's mother, Mrs. Etta D. College Group Shares Surprise Birthday Observance

In celebration of Miss Velma Bishop's birthday anniversary, a surprise party was given Saturday night in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Holmes Bishop, Fairhaven avenue. A little group of college friends took part in the pleasant affair.

Miss Bishop, who is a junior at the University of California at Los Angeles, had no inkling of the party and was kept in suspense as her guests came in one by one. Cards and dig-saw puzzles were enjoyed until a late hour, when a large decorated cake was served with ice cream.

Those who shared in the evening were Miss Elizabeth Rinkler, of U. C. L. A.; Miss Eunice Bright of Santa Ana Junior college; Edward Rinkler, alumnus of U. C. S. C.; DeWitt Bishop, S. A. J. C.; John Dunlap, of U. S. C. and the honoree and her family, Miss Bishop, Mr. and Mrs. Holmes Bishop and sons, Gordon and Noble.

Tea followed in the peacock room, with Mrs. Paul Bailey, president, and Mrs. Perry F. Schrock and Mrs. Edith W. Thatcher of the public affairs committee, presiding. The fund acquired will go to the Santa Ana Junior College Student Loan fund.

Co-Hostesses Join in Giving Shower for Bride-elect

When Mrs. Harry Whitney and Mrs. G. R. Seacord joined Saturday afternoon in complimenting Miss Ruth Tantlinger, one of the most charming of the season's brides-elect, they were hostesses in the Seacord home on Lemon Heights. Guests included in addition to a friendly neighborhood group, a few of Miss Tantlinger's intimate friends.

The marriage of the honoree, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Tantlinger, Newport road, and John V. Newman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl V. Newman, is to be an event of May.

The hostesses were successful in giving the event as a surprise to Miss Tantlinger, who arrived at the Seacord home to find the guests assembled. Needles soon were in play as quilt blocks were pieced during the afternoon. They were completed and presented to the young bride-to-be together with lining, cotton, etc., for completion of the quilt.

In addition, Miss Tantlinger was the recipient of numerous miscellaneous gifts from the assembled group.

During a delightful interval at the close of the afternoon, refreshments of ice cream, cakes and fruit punch were served at small tables centered with silver vases of pink and white sweet peas. Bouquets of sweet peas, with stocks and other blooms, were arranged throughout the rooms of the home, in keeping with a pink and white theme.

Guests were Mesdames Fred Chapman, Paul Howe, W. H. Finley, C. S. Cruickshank, C. E. Utt, C. V. Newman, E. E. Ulrich, C. A. Samuelson, J. B. Gorton, A. G. Finley, J. H. Ebersole, R. J. Richards, J. A. Prescott, C. Moh-nike, W. M. Tantlinger and the Misses Louise Artz, Eleanor Cruickshank, Velma Caspar, Helen Kinnear, Frances Wilcox, Margaret Willbrandt, Margaret Finley, Evelyn Rogers, Evangeline Mohlnke, Edna Ebersole, Miriam Samuelson, Florence Ulrich, Marjorie Rawlings and the honoree, Miss Tantlinger, with the hostesses, Mesdames Whitney and Seacord.

Two Hostesses Unite in Compliment to Mrs. Balzar

A dozen friends who had enjoyed close associations with Mrs. Frank Balzar during her residence in Santa Ana as Miss Mary Harris, were guests in the home of Mrs. John Tressmann, 309 East Seventeenth street, Saturday afternoon at a bridge luncheon of simplicity and charm. The courtesy was offered jointly by Mrs. Tressmann and Miss Genevieve Humiston.

The informal function complimented Mrs. Balzar who is making an extended visit in this city with her mother, Mrs. F. J. Harris of 614 Cypress avenue. She arrived some weeks ago with her two daughters, Diana and Ruth, from Mountain Lake, Minn., where she has been residing since her marriage. Mrs. Balzar formerly held the position of librarian at Santa Ana High school and Junior college.

Flowers abundant at this season, combined in gay bouquets, were vividly evident as decoration. Typical of these blooms were the panics which graced each of the three small tables employed for the luncheon.

Luncheon tables subsequently were rearranged for bridge, at which guests found pleasant occupation until tallies were totaled at the injunction of the hostesses. While Mrs. Richard Couden led at cards, a special prize, reserved for the guest of honor, Mrs. Balzar, was presented simultaneously with the bridge reward.

Those who shared in the evening were Miss Elizabeth Rinkler, of U. C. L. A.; Miss Eunice Bright of Santa Ana Junior college; Edward Rinkler, alumnus of U. C. S. C.; DeWitt Bishop, S. A. J. C.; John Dunlap, of U. S. C. and the honoree and her family, Miss Bishop, Mr. and Mrs. Holmes Bishop and sons, Gordon and Noble.

Sycamore Rebekahs

Marked by the official visit of Mrs. Marie Faulk, district deputy president, and her district deputy marshal, Mrs. Mae Mansberger, the meeting of Sycamore Rebekah lodge held Saturday night in L. O. O. F. hall was of special interest.

Pleasant Houseparty Observes Birthday Anniversary

In complimenting her niece, Miss Parla Nell Clayton, on her birthday anniversary, Miss Hazel Nell Bemus planned a delightful house party for the end of the week, inviting a congenial little group of girls to share the hospitality of herself and her father, Frank Bemus, in their beach home, Lani Kai, at Laguna Beach.

Guests represented an organization whose members have been bound by friendship ever since their school days at Julia Lathrop and now that they are seniors in Santa Ana High school, they find even more things of mutual interest, so their close association over the week end was doubly enjoyable.

In the party in addition to Mr. Bemus, Miss Bemus and their honoree, Miss Parla Nell Clayton, were the Misses Phyllis Gerrard, Janet Diehl, Mary Anna Baxter, Maxine Gidcomb and Patricia McCleure.

Saturday was devoted to beach sports and that evening the merry group returned to this city to attend the Girls' Ebell program of one acts in Ebell auditorium, in which Miss Janet Diehl had part while the others formed part of the interested audience.

Returning that night to Lani Kai, all joined in a merry slumber party, continuing their beach program Sunday, interrupted by a gala affair at the dinner hour, and returning to their several homes at the advance of night-fall.

Easter Egg Hunt and Contests Held at Party

A party given one evening the past week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Cooney, 1235 Cypress avenue, came as a surprise birthday compliment to Ralph Teter. His sister, Miss Bethel Teter, and her friend, Miss Lella Dozier, of Tustin, had arranged the event.

Games, an Easter egg hunt, singing and guessing contests passed away the time until delicious refreshments of cake, jello, candy, wafers and coffee were served by the hostesses at a late hour. The presentation of humorous and useful gifts was another feature of the evening.

Those present for the affair included the Misses Vivienne Wyne, Alberta Hoover, Eleanor Freeburg, Pearl Hadley, Ama Mae Tter, Vera and Gladys Flora, Ada Teter, Ruth Ellen Dunlap, Bethel Teter and Lella Dozier; Messrs Ralph Teter, Lee Jordan, Merritt Cogswell, Henry Mohler, Gerald Teter, Ellsworth Teter, Paul Baker, John Dunlap, Roy Teter and Mr. and Mrs. William Teter, Odell Jordan, Ray Cooney and Paul Peter.

Interesting Guests Are Entertained Here

Returning to their home in Hollywood, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bleaholder of that city, carried with them pleasant memories of their week-end visit here as guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Nunnally on Highland avenue. Mr. Bleaholder is the well-known "Hank" of the Beverly Hill Billies, radio entertainers.

One of the features of their visit was the party given Saturday night by Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Manghan of 1009 West Bishop street, in honor of the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Manghan's brother and sister, J. E. Meadon and Mrs. Nunnally, who are twins. The occasion was made doubly enjoyable by his radio characterization of "Hank," carrying the famous fiddle, and proceeded to add violin selections and several yodeling numbers to the musical program of the evening.

Ice cream, birthday cake and other dainties were served to complete the hospitable affair.

Mr. and Mrs. Manghan and their two sons, William and Glenn, welcomed as guests, J. E. Meadon, Mr. and Mrs. Nunnally and their children, Barbara and Richard, Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Law of this city, M. A. Cervantes of Olive; Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Meadon of Orange; Mrs. Fay Wright and children, Margaret, Jackie and Kenneth, of Anaheim, and Mr. and Mrs. Bleaholder of Hollywood.

College W. A. A. Greets Fullerton Co-eds At Playday

At the invitation of the Women's Athletic association of Santa Ana Junior college, Fullerton jaycee women were guests Saturday at a hockey "playday" held on the jaycee field. This affair took the place of the official hockey playday which was to have been held at Fullerton junior college on March 11 at which time Long Beach, Compton and Santa Ana colleges were to be represented, but plans perforce were abandoned as a result of the earthquake.

Preceding the hockey and tennis meets the local W. A. A. held a breakfast in the Green Cat cafe. The Easter motif was carried out in all appointments with small nests containing candy eggs and baskets of sweet peas forming centerpieces on the tables. Chocolate eggs were used as place cards.

In charge of the breakfast were the Misses Ruth Crowl, Alta Fisher, Elizabeth Downie and Dorothy Tedford. Those in charge of the subsequent entertainment were Miss Charlotte Richards and Miss Margaret Cox.

Fullerton women carried off the honors in the two hockey contests but were defeated in the tennis matches. Swimming and dancing were later enjoyed by both colleges in Andrews' gymnasium and afterwards participants gathered in the Y hut for box lunches. Clog dances were given at this time by Miss Frances Miller and Miss Betty Walker accompanied on the piano by Miss Alta Fisher.

Those present at the breakfast besides the coaches, Mrs. William Foote and Miss Zena Leck, were the Misses Evelyn Furtch, Shirley Day, Susanna Alexander, Alina Buck, Ardith Parham, Barbara Goodrich, Marian Brownridge, Dorothy Tedford, Alta Fisher, Elizabeth Downie, Ruth Crowl, Charlotte Richards, Florence Turner, Betty Walker, Mary Jean DuBois, Marjorie Johnson, Patricia Gabrielle, Margaret Hoefner, Laverne Davis, Helen Harper, Winifred Schneider, Frances Carl, Helen Bower, Alma McDonald, Virginia

In this setting, bridge and 500 were enjoyed during the evening. Mrs. Bryan Anderson, Mrs. Ben Marks, John Cleary and Charles Cleary were high scorers, presenting impromptu programs in return for their high honors.

Refreshments provided by the guests were served to conclude the affair. The hosts were presented with a handsome gift from the assembled group of friends.

Those taking part in the evening's pleasures were Messrs. and Mesdames Cadett Hamilton, Bryan Anderson, Ben Marks, Roy Wilson, Cornish Roehm, John Cleary, Bert Zicor, Charles Cleary, Dick Horton, Forest Hunter and Mr. and Mrs. Hunton.

Ebell Section Makes Trip to Glendale

A large group of members took part in the affair, enjoying luncheon in an attractive tea room in Glendale. Hostesses were Miss Ida Noy and Mrs. W. V. Whitson. California poppies provided the keynote for the luncheon's brilliant decorative motif, the menu itself conforming to the theme.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Hot Cream Slaw

Large head cabbage, shaved fine

1 cup vinegar
1 tablespoon butter
2 tablespoons sugar
1 cup sour cream
1 egg beaten with 1 tsp. flour
1 tsp. dry mustard
Salt and pepper.

Heat the vinegar in a double boiler, with the butter and sugar. Beat the egg and flour with the mustard; stir into the vinegar and cook to a thin custard. Add the cream, well whipped, cook for a minute longer, stirring constantly. Take off the fire and whip briskly to break up any curds that may have formed. Pour hot over the finely shaved cabbage. Taste and toss the cabbage with two forks to coat well with dressing.

Serve as a salad, or as a vegetable with fish. There are eight or ten servings in the recipe.

There are close to 1300 calories in the recipe, chiefly due to the sour cream, a fat supplying energy units.

Neighborhood Class

Young people of the Neighborhood class of the First Baptist Sunday school shared in a happy party late last week when they were entertained by Miss Louise Markwalder in her home, 949 Chestnut street.

They found the home a pleasing picture of Easter, with many flowers and Easter symbols used in decoration. The Easter season was stressed in the amusement program also, which included an egg hunt and many merry contests. Prizes in the different events were secured by Jason Hodge, Ernest Peters, and the Misses Evelyn Wiebe and Eunice Blanchard.

Climaxing the pleasant evening, the hostess with the assistance of her mother, Mrs. John Markwalder, served an appetizing refreshment course to her guests who were Jason Hodge, Elmer Rither, Hesper Turner, Lucille Lowder,

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—ILLUSTRATIONS BY KIM

Poor Duncy! He was in a plight that almost made him shake with fright. The limb that he was hanging from looked far from very strong.

A frantic "Help!" rang in the air and then he thought, "I wonder where wee Scouty is. He surely knows that something has gone wrong."

And he was right. Brave Scouty knew. He'd raced to see what he could do, and when he reached the Midget Man, he shouted, "Come with me!"

"Wee Duncy's hanging in the air. Oh, he has had an awful scare! Two big giraffes have pulled a trick, as you will shortly see."

"Right now he's hanging o'er a cliff and I'm afraid that he'll fall if we do not run and pull him up. We need a strong, long rope."

"One look, and you will understand. Come on, you Tines, lend a hand. If we all pull together, we can save his life, I hope."

"My monkeys and my elephants are used to pulling rescue stunts. I'll call them," said the Midget Man. "I have a rope, right here!"

"We all will do the best we can," cried Coppy. Then the whole bunch ran and gazed down on poor Duncy. Someone shouted, "Have no fear."

"Well, drop a rope, and hurry, please. I'm getting shaky at the knees," cried Duncy. Down the long rope went and Duncy held it tight.

Brave Scouty and the Midget Man began to pull. A monkey ran up with a tiny elephant and joined them. What a sight!

"Heave ho!" exclaimed wee Duncy. "Gee! Please be as careful as can be. Don't let go of the rope, now, or as sure as fate I'll drop."

"Be quiet," said the Midget Man. "Just try and help us all you can. In just about a moment you'll be pulled right o'er the top."

(Duncy is safe and sound, in the next story.)

A concrete example of what wrong thinking based on fear would do is clearly illustrated in the experience of a friend of mine. When this man was a child his close relatives had such great herculean trouble to keep him from growing to manhood, they were so afraid of his strength. At the age of twenty, that which they greatly feared was manifested and the young man was sent to the Western country in the hope that the climate would arrest the disease and lead to his healing. He spent several years of his life in the desert country, but the greatest of all was the desert of fear, not only his own, which he

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 12—(Read Matthew 26:6-14)

The Economy of Love

The Gospel records of Jesus last week are pathetically bare of instances of gratitude from those for whom He had done so much, or loyalty from His nearest friends. And when a woman (here nameless) did this one lovely deed of gratitude, whose fragrance has carried across the centuries, His disciples had no comment but reproach. "Why this waste?"

But love is never wasted nor can it be. An economy which leaves life bare of beauty and sentiment, of the deed which does not need to be done and the gift which does not need to be given, is a false economy. The real wealth of life is in the margin of generous deeds, in what love conceives and does beyond demand. Love may not always—or often—possess an alabaster box of ointment but, being love, it possesses in itself something far more precious. Love may make a word an alabaster box and fill a bare room with the fragrance of its spirit but it must give itself to be itself.

Prayer: O Thou Who has given us in our power to love, the very nature of Thine Eternal being, forgive us our poor use of it. Save us from the fear of spending it even upon the unlovely and may we bring to Him and all those for whom He died, whatever we hold most precious. Enrich us with a wealth of love which grows always more rich in giving itself. We ask it all in His name. Amen.

OPPORTUNITY BEFORE LEGION

It has been reported that there is some plan on foot to have another trek to Washington by the so-called "bonus army," the idea being to have a petition, as it was before, "in boots," to make a request for what is due the service men in 1945.

It is extremely difficult, for one who desires to be absolutely fair and just, to know exactly what should be done in respect to the soldiers' bonus or the soldiers' pensions. One thing, we believe, all will grant, and that is that the disabled veterans of the World war, or any other war, should be adequately and well taken care of by our government. As to just what should be done, and how far anything should be done beyond that, for those who were not injured, who are able-bodied, is another question.

In the social struggle that is on in our country, the American Legion has a wonderful opportunity to offer the greatest leadership that has ever presented itself to any similar organization. The American Federation of Labor has been carrying on very largely under the same principles that dominate trade organizations, Chambers of Commerce and Manufacturers' organizations. It is working for the benefit of its organized group, under the principles of making a profit, which is based upon the theory of getting as much as it can for what it has to sell. There is not much idealism in it, and particularly not an idealism that would affect the great mass of those who are not members of its organization.

The great body of wage earners in this country, running into 40,000,000, are virtually without leadership. The American Legion is a cross-section of our country. It, too, has been interested in civil and political life, rather consciously. As an organization of service men it has the opportunity now to look out over our nation, note its needs, note the lack of organization everywhere amongst the great masses, and furnish, in an altruistic manner, that leadership which the great masses need. But it should be a leadership that is informed; that is intelligent, and that is sympathetic with the needs and requirements of the hour.

Certainly, just at this time, while our Chief Executive and Congress are in the very midst of carrying out a program, with the unemployment of the nation, the farmers and others in mind, it is a poor time to do anything else than aid wherever possible in the accomplishment of the purposes in the mind of the President. For any and all of these objectives will help the ex-service man, as he is a part of the general group. And it is as a part of this general group, organized to be sure, whose patriotism is unquestioned, that the Legion men can make the largest contribution to the nation.

They should do it, not as censors or as monitors, but as constructive builders of positive work, for the nation at large. Anything short of this, or any other position which they might assume, would be failing to take advantage of a great opportunity, and to serve their day and generation in the measure possible.

DR. SHAW OPERATES

The operation is over, the patient will recover. Everyone knew that Dr. George Bernard Shaw would have plenty to say about the United States. The man knew it who wrote him a letter begging him not to judge of the people of the United States by the two playgrounds, Hollywood and New York. Many were of the same mind. None need have been worried, however, on that score. It appears that his opinion on the United States which he delivered in New York yesterday, was formed before he ever started on his round-the-world trip and, as happens with so many tourists visiting the country, didn't change his opinion one whit. The critic and author, so the report says, has been rehearsing the speech delivered yesterday to five thousand Americans plus several more thousands through the radio, while he has been taking his daily swim during the four months of the trip.

The people of the United States have a reputation for hearing unpleasant criticism with such good grace that it has repeatedly proved astonishing. There are indications that the worm is turning. Whether it is that the people of the United States have accumulated enough advice to serve as a basis for improvement for a long time to come, or whether, being a bit down, the people have rallied with a fighting spirit replacing the easy-going toleration of yore, a change is becoming evident. Possibly it is because we are taking the criticisms more to heart.

Hitler says he will give full co-operation to the Olympic games in 1936 in Berlin. Probably the biggest event will be chucking the treaty.

JAPAN AND THE MANDATED ISLANDS

Now that Japan has withdrawn from the League of Nations, the question has arisen as to the mandated islands which were taken from Germany by the Treaty of Versailles and turned over to Japan. These islands are situated in the mid-Pacific. They are on the road to our possessions in the Pacific—the Philippines and Hawaii. The presumption has been that they could not be held by other than a member of the League.

There was a rumor afloat that Japan had fortified the islands; but that has been contradicted by the Japanese. Japan now makes the claim that she was promised the islands if she joined the Allies in the war against Germany by the notorious secret treaties parcelling out the spoils of the war. The mandating of the islands was simply a diplomatic method to legalize what had been promised by these secret treaties.

Japan will remain in the League for two years more, according to an agreement made when nations join the League. It may be by the time that period has elapsed, Japan will have decided to stay in. If she does stay in, no action need be taken by the Council of the League. In the meantime, the officials of the League will need to see to it that the islands are not fortified. At the end of the two-year period, some action will have to be taken if Japan insists upon withdrawing from the League.

"GABRIEL OVER THE WHITE HOUSE"

Have you seen "Gabriel Over the White House?"

It is on at the Fox Broadway now. Tonight, we believe, is the last showing.

It is a dramatization of some ideas which today are finding their way into legislation, inaugurated by the President.

The emphasis which is placed upon the thought in the book, and in the presentation of it, that the resources of the nation should be first placed to the end of supplying the necessities of life to all; that law must be supreme over the caprice of men, and that the only way that the public can be secure is for the public to know that nothing is concealed that affects their welfare in the transactions carried on by public officials, is well carried throughout the whole dramatization. As Wilson expressed it, and as it is expressed by "President Hammond"—"open covenants openly arrived at."

From time to time, we have endeavored to emphasize possibly every idea that is presented in this picture. If you want to see an epitome of the efforts that have so far been put forth by President Roosevelt, see "Gabriel Over the White House."

It is daring; it is well acted, and it is a wonderful picture.

How Isolation Works

New York Times

In the Spring of 1930 the number of unemployed in the industrial countries of the world, according to the Geneva estimate, was about 10,000,000. By that time the tide of nationalism was beginning to run heavily, as the world soon discovered in the first smashing Hitler victory of September, 1930.

Thereupon every nation began to concentrate entirely on itself. As a result Geneva was able to report in May, 1931, that world unemployment now amounted to 20,000,000. This of course proved that the nations needed more isolation than ever, and on all sides steps were accordingly taken.

As a result Geneva in June, 1932, was able to report 12,000,000 unemployed in twenty-five countries outside of the United States. As we at that time had very nearly the same number, the total world unemployment was close to 25,000,000. Plainly all the countries needed still more quotas and Chinese walls, and all the countries proceeded to get them.

As a result Geneva announced last week the following rates of unemployment: United States, 34 per cent, as against something over 20 per cent last year; Germany, 33 per cent, up from an indicated 23 per cent; England, 26 per cent, up from about 20 per cent; Czechoslovakia, 20 per cent, up from 10 per cent.

That is the way everybody has been doing splendidly by just diving for the life-boats and looking exclusively after one's self.

Hitler Revises Religion

San Francisco Chronicle

Unless all the correspondents in Germany have gone crazy, Hitler must be. Who but a madman would seek to eject from Christianity the very Scriptures which Christ said he came to fulfill; who would substitute the legends of Wotan and Thor for the law and the prophets. Who, in his normal mind, would proclaim that if Jesus were now alive he would join the Nazi party, whose very first principle would be to eject him as a "racial inferior?"

Because Moses and Isaiah were Jews, they shall lose their place in the Teutonic racial Christianity, of which Hitler is the prophet (one of his sycophants publicly called him the "Holy Ghost") and Fafnir and Loki are the spirits of darkness and light. Valhalla shall take the place of heaven, and Ragnarok is the new judgment day. The choice of the Valkyries is the new redemption, and Wotan is the father of the gods. Perhaps it is not without significance that Wotan had one blind eye.

At any rate, this is to be the new Christianity, in which the prophets and the apostles are to have no place and the Scriptures are to be expurgated of everything Hebraic. Madness could no farther go.

The New Happy Ending

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

PASSING THE BUCK

Science attributes laziness to germ action
Although one needs but little zest
To sound a pipe or beat a tabor,
These occupations I detest;
I find them both too much like labor.
In what I like to call my mind
Minute bacteria are lurking
Which somehow makes me disinclined
To any shape or form of working.When I was young, beyond a doubt,
Like all rambunctious kids I acted;
To wit, I leaped and ran about
And drove my parents half distracted.
But germs which make for love of ease,
Defying science to resist 'em,
Were then engaged, by slow degrees,
In finding lodgment in my system.Thereafter I became the tool
Of these unseen, malignant creatures;
I took no interest in school,
I felt no friendship for my teachers.
No sense whatever could I see
In conning books with ceaseless ardor;
An education meant to me
That I should have to work the harder.And so, if I today prefer
To lie beside a singing river,
To listen to the partridge whirr
And watch the shining birch leaves quiver;
If I the fickle jade called Fame
Am not with eager heart pursuing,
Please do not put on me the blame;
It's all those dog-gone microbes' doing.

In the Long Ago

From The Register Files
14 Years Ago Today

APRIL 12, 1919

There was a great demand for houses and apartments for rent, and real estate agents reported that they had daily inquiries for small cottages and bungalows and that there was a decided shortage of suitable places. Many who had sold their homes expecting to rent for a short time, were forced to buy again in order to have a place to stay.

Mrs. Elmer Curtis was recovering from a serious operation she had undergone at Anaheim sanitarium.

Lieutenant Z. Bertrand West had been fortunate in securing a government scholarship and had entered Caen University in Normandy for a three months' law course, according to letters sent to his relatives. He expected to be back home in July.

James Pearce who had recently disposed of a vulcanizing, ignition and supply business, was planning to return to bean and produce buying, the business he was in before entering the auto supply game. He and Mrs. Pearce had left by automobile for San Francisco to spend the next three weeks where Pearce planned to contact various produce buying firms.

Life

FISCAL INDEPENDENCE OF THE SCHOOLS

The two major dangers always confronting education are:
(1) Financial neglect.
(2) Political exploitation.

For the last fifty years, far-sighted leaders have sought to guard against these two dangers by establishing fiscal independence to school boards.

This fiscal independence has usually meant that, after certain legal tax limits have been set by law, school boards have been free to determine the amount of school funds needed and have had the authority to certify this amount for levy without interference by county or city authority so long as the funds asked could be raised by a tax levy within the legal limits set.

During the last quarter century there has been a marked growth in this sort of fiscal independence for the schools.

In 130, of all American cities with from 5000 to 30,000 inhabitants, school boards in about two-thirds of the cities have this complete fiscal independence.

In the north Atlantic states this fiscal independence is found least, while in the western states, this fiscal dependence is found most.

In some states, all school districts, whether large or small, town or city, have this independence. In such states each must prepare and submit a budget which carries the approval of the city or county superintendent, but, if the funds requested can be raised by a levy within the limits set by law, no mayor, no city council, no board of county supervisors can deny it or diminish it. This fiscal independence I conceive to be vital to the future of education.

Local politicians do not like it. It prevents their prostituting the school system to their own personal ends.

It prevents their playing horse with the schools in order to protect other phases of the city budget in which better political pork can be found.

It is a bulwark against political log-rolling with respect to school funds.

I hark back to an earlier analogy: We must keep the schools, no less than the judiciary, above the battles of the day to day and year to year politics of our communities.

WEANING

A whole lot of living goes into undoing what we have done. That does not imply that the original doing was wrong, or even unnecessary. We have to lay foundations that later must be merged into the structure. We have to take out temporary supports and replace them with permanent girders of steel. We have to do things that way because of the nature of this job of child training.

A baby has to be fed at his mother's breast. That is his first source of strength and comfort and security. But the time comes when he must be weaned from the breast. We gradually get him to accept a bottle of milk in its stead. We may have to struggle hard to overcome his resistance if we have not been wise about the when and how of the procedure, but we have to persist until we accomplish the end. We have to wean him gradually but steadily from the beginning through the progressive steps of his growth and education.

Many mothers inwardly resent this weaning of the children away from them. Not physically, but spiritually, they cling to the joy that their children's dependency gives them. A great loneliness sweeps over a mother as she discovers that her children have been completely weaned from her and are out in the world on their own power. In her heart she knows this is right and as it ought to be, but it is hard to bear. Nevertheless it must be done and the sooner the complete weaning is done the better.

There is no hurry about it, however. It is a long drawn out process that proceeds from day to day from one stage of our growth through the next until manhood and womanhood is reached. But, if the mother wishes to make the weaning complete, if she wishes her child to be a whole person, and what mother does not, she must assist each step forward, must do everything in her power to help the child wean itself away from her. And how shall she do that?

Right at the start decide that as soon as a child can do something for himself that he is to be allowed to do it with the praise and encouragement of his mother to urge him on. If a mother shares the child's triumph in each achievement she will never lose touch with the child. Her sympathy and understanding draws him closer to her and although he may be steadily going away from her as to his physical dependence upon her, he is steadily growing closer to her spiritually which is precisely what ought to be happening. Growing children can only be close to their mothers in spirit and that spirit is built up during the years when dependency is merging into independence.

Would you be strong in the affection of your children? Then wean them early with words of praise for their strength. Would you have them love you as a source of strength? Then teach them to stand alone in their own strength while you cheer them on with words of praise for their effort and achievement. Money won't hold them, home comforts and sheltering restrictions won't hold them. But understanding love that sends them out strengthened and inspired to carve their own way will always hold them.

The wiser the weaning, the stronger the tie between you and your children.
